Changing times

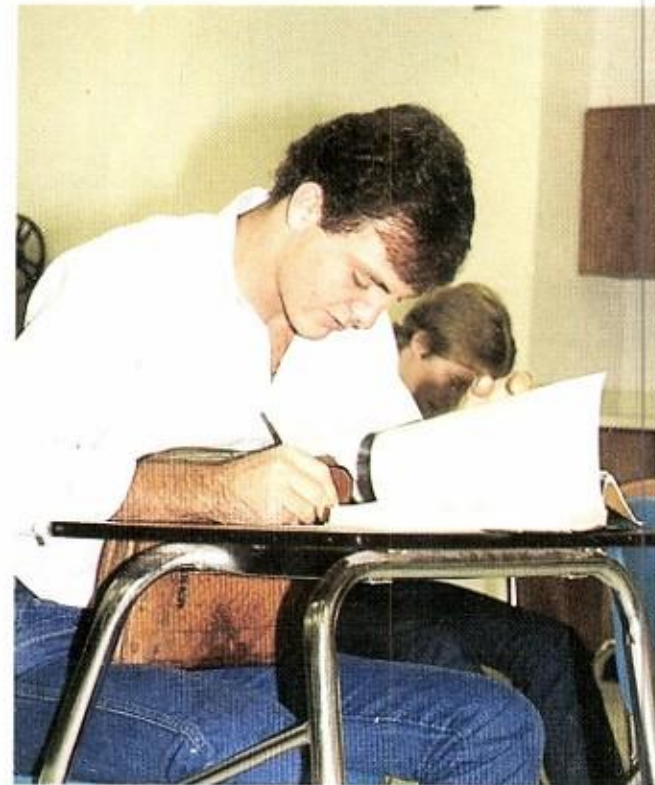

"These times, they are a changing," or so the old saying goes, but indeed the times did undergo a change this year with the stricter standards the new legislation brought about.

One of the changes involved assemblies — and the most often assembled group was for the pep rallies. Cut in length to 15 minutes, the pep rallies were not only condensed, but time out of class for decorating and clean-up was eliminated.

While complaints were often voiced that "they're taking all the fun out of school," somehow we all changed . . . along with the changing times.

Supporting ice cream sales on a chilly day are Tammy Crawford, Debbie Frasier, Dedra Benes, Kristi Miller and Anita Burney.

Changing our ways

Chief football team plans for a victory.

A major health exam has Keith Rosser, senior, studying.

River walk area provides a place to take it easy. Tina Garcia and Charlotte Jimerson, seniors, take advantage of a pretty day.

"Think I'll play hooky this afternoon and just go fishing." Not anymore. Not with the new reform bill allowing only five unexcused absences per semester.

Indeed, we all had to change our ways a little — just to pass if for no other reason. Because along with the unexcused absentee policy came the new 70 minimum for passing. A minimum that some felt was "to the max."

No more just barely getting by; indeed, we had to crack a few books or face the music. And part of the song was called the tutorial program.

Some failed to see the purpose, but it really didn't matter . . . in the end we all ended up changing our ways.

The new fashions may be a little small for Charles Morgan and Eve Carr, freshmen.

Welding is taught in vocational agriculture classes. Mark Rogers, junior, gains experience.

Change of heart

Halftime performance adds excitement to the game. Leah Williams, Cheryl McKinnerney, juniors, and Jodie Teague, sophomore, show off their new routine.

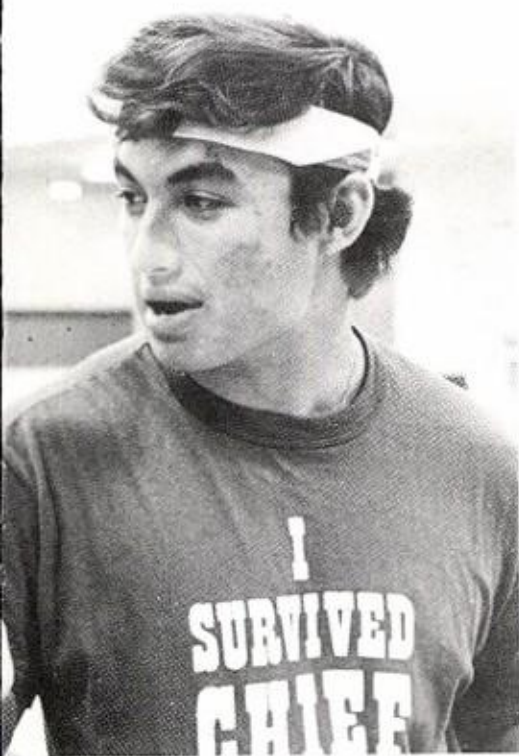

"I've always had my heart set on . . ."

A few hearts were broken and a few had a change of heart in coming to grips with changes in extracurricular activities.

A maximum of 10 extracurricular absences were allowed per school year which meant fewer field trips, Saturday volleyball and basketball games and a whole lot of moaning and groaning. In general, we stayed in class and studied — something we weren't used to doing.

But studying we had to if we wanted to participate in the limited extracurricular activities offered. Alas, we actually had to be passing all our classes to go on speech trips, run track or compete in a spelling contest. Ahh, remember the good old days. Guess this just must be . . . a change of heart.

Change of pace

“Life in the fast lane” is sometimes the unwritten rule we find ourselves following. We meet deadlines, work overtime, go too much, sleep too little.

Our hectic schedule leaves little time for leisure activities — with that limited amount or precious time we sometimes just want to kick off our shoes, wade in the water or maybe “stop and smell the roses.”

While the flurry of everyday activities is not soon to slow down, it’s always nice to just have . . . a change of pace.

OUT

Change of scene

Starting with two-a-day work-outs, the school year was full of changes. We didn't let that stand in our way; however, it did put a damper on the times that we could have fun. While activities this year have been different, all through life, we will be changing scenes.

Tensions Relax

Homecoming Week Breaks Pace of School

After two months of tedious school work, the student body was ready for the excitement of homecoming week.

Many felt that the new restrictions would put a damper on homecoming, but the condensed version served to make the festivities even more exciting.

Starting Monday of homecoming week, a variety of styles and themes were seen in the annual poster competition. The Speech Club was tougher than the rest, coming away with the first place win. The sophomores and juniors tied for second place honors.

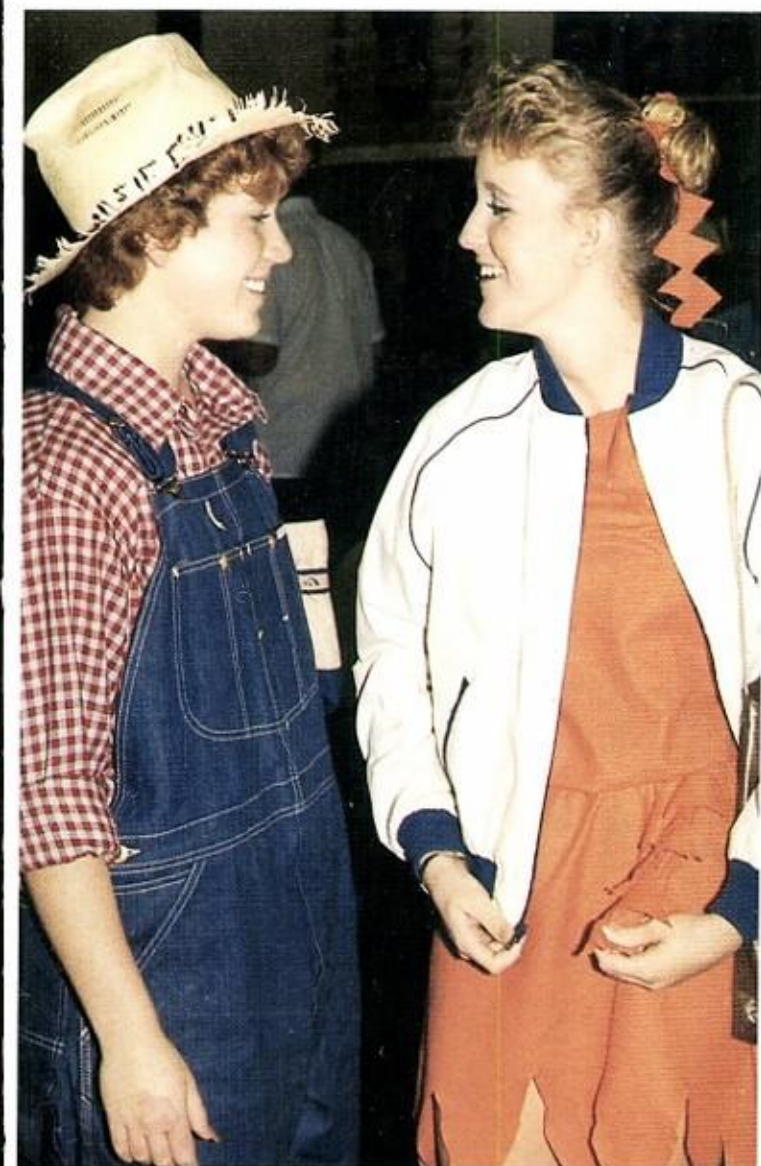

"Double Trouble" day brought about all kinds of terrible two's on Thursday. Some of the twosomes were a duo of Cokes, both diet and regular, a threesome of Klansmen, numerous couples of clowns, and a pair of M&M's, both plain and peanut.

Garfield the cat, alias James Young, freshman, boosts spirit during homecoming week.

The juniors third place float encourages the Chiefs to "Reach for the Stars."

Nerd, Steve White, junior, gets the last laugh.

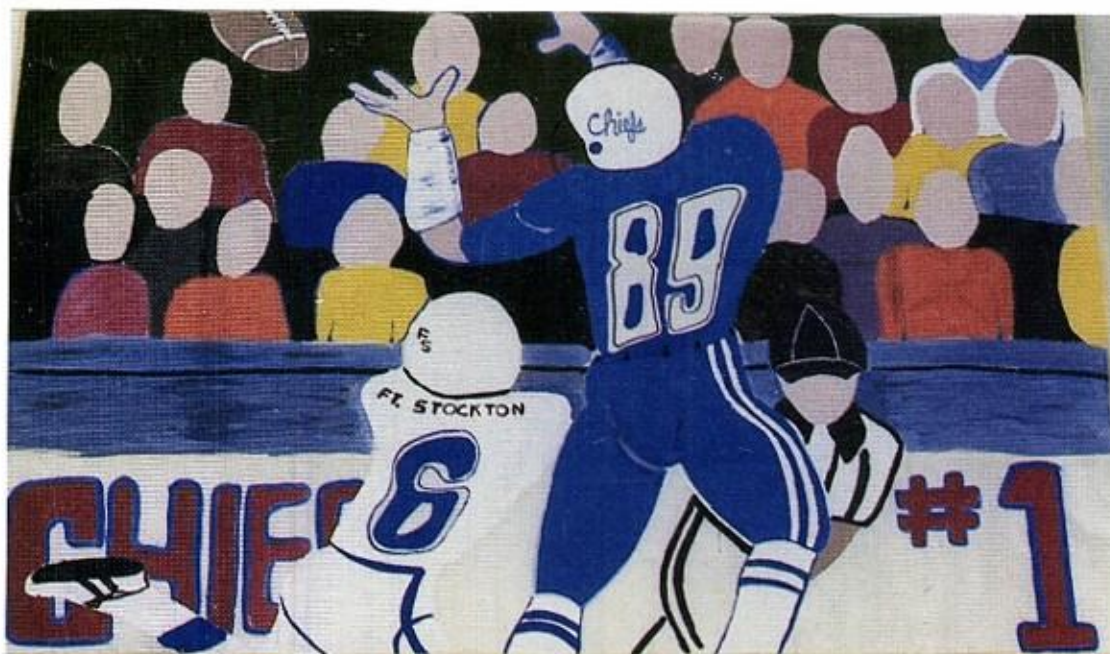

Dressing up brings a laugh between Kendra Cook, sophomore and Danetta Kinsley, junior.

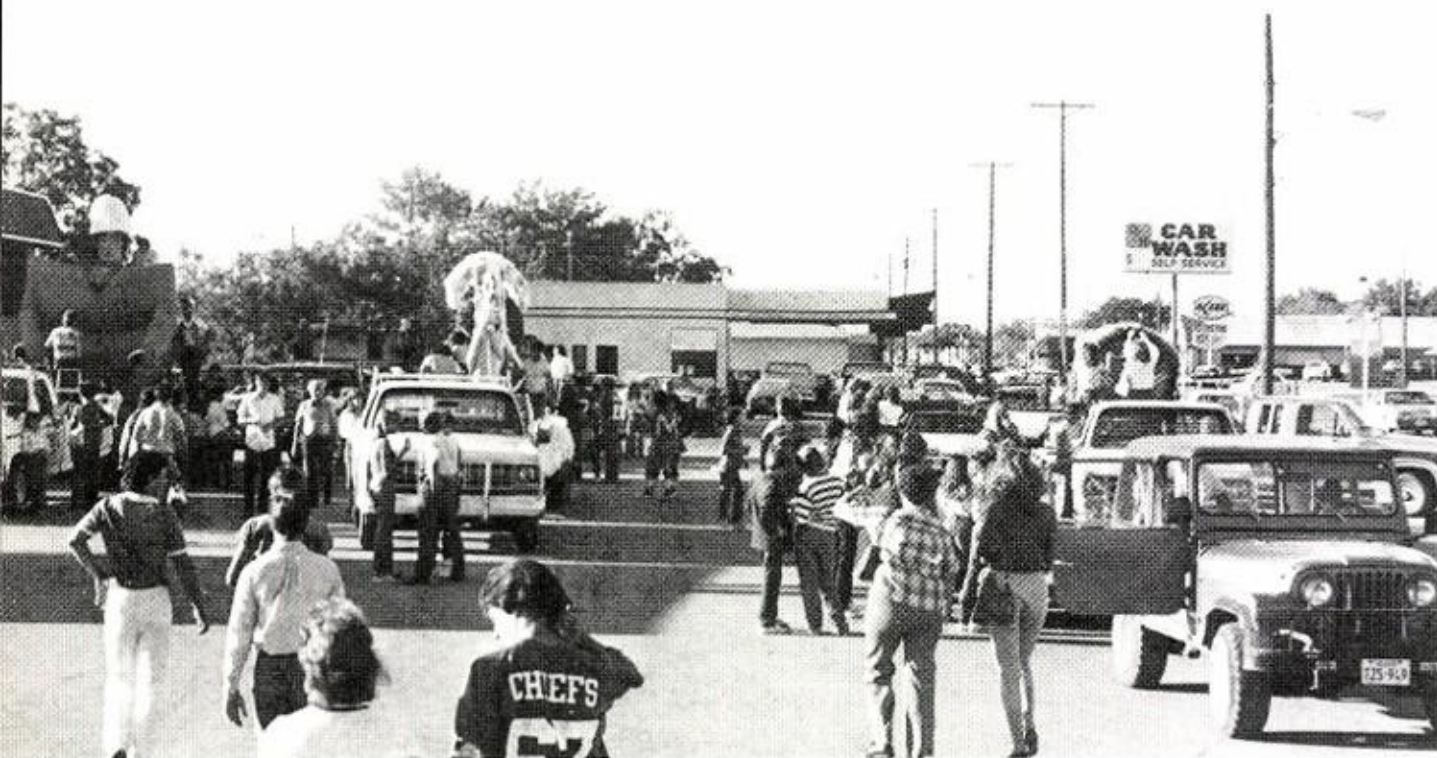

The Art Club expresses spirit through their homecoming poster.

Masquerade day is fun for Angela Robertson, and Sherri Frost, freshmen and Leigh Ann Bibbs, junior.

Klan members Oscar Garcia, David Saldivar and Adam Galindo show their spirit.

The Booster Club float rises above the rest.

Have a Coke and a smile expresses Lisa White, senior.

Double Trouble is the style for Karen Michalewicz, sophomore, and Wendy Jones, freshman.

A parade which some claimed was "the best ever" was highlighted with 33 different entries. The route, which started at Dairy Gold Drive-In, concluded at the coliseum and was climaxed with the bonfire and the crowning of James Allen and Brandy Anthony as Mr. and Miss Flame.

Award-winning floats were seniors, first; sophomores, second; and juniors, third. Special recognition was given to the Booster Club for their help in building the bonfire and for their float which was some 30 feet tall.

Masquerade day wound up the week's agenda of special activities. Popular costumes to be seen on campus were nerds, Captain Lake View, punk rockers and, naturally, cowboys and Indians.

H'coming Sparks Enthusiasm

Built primarily by exes and Booster Club members, the bonfire is traditionally a highlight of the homecoming week.

cus Demo

After all the fun of the various competitions and dress-up days, came the highlights of the week — the homecoming game and the crowning of the queen.

The homecoming court was richly attired as the crowning ceremonies began at halftime. Bonnie Edwards, last year's queen, crowned Lois Cauley, the new 1984 homecoming queen.

The game itself did not live up to everyone's hopes and expectations. The Chiefs lost to the Fort Stockton Panthers 14 to 7.

Gangster and flapper, Jeff Sanders, sophomore, and Lisa Stinnett, senior, "shoot" the breeze.

Sophomore cowboy, Janet Sheen-McGuire shows that cowboys have to study, too.

Captain Lake View, alias Dean Gill, senior, saves the day as Gary Carroll and Randy Havard, seniors, approve of the action.

Knowledge does not necessarily come from a book. This is what the Spanish Club students found out when they visited Mexico City in December.

"This trip is an educational trip to show how good a country you've got," said Mr. Felix Lopez, club sponsor.

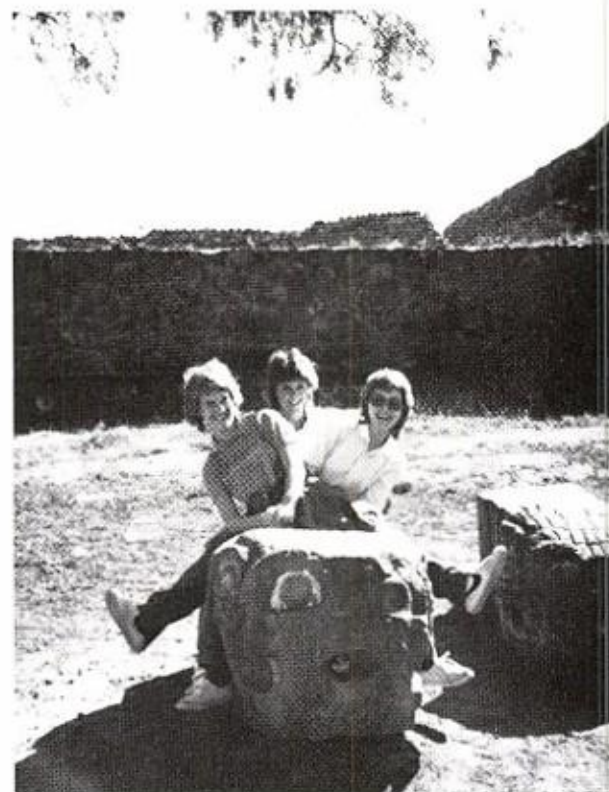

The 24 students and 12 sponsors saw many sights on the trip. Some of these included: ruins of ancient Indian pyramids, Our Lady of Guadalupe Shrine, a Mexican ballet, the cathedral of Mexico City and various market places.

Senior, Imelda Sevier, expressed her impressions of Mexico City and its people. "It made me think of the things we take for granted here in the United States. You see a lot of beautiful monuments, but the people there live in poverty."

Raising animals to show takes hard work and long hours. It can also cost a lot of money, and even though some people make money, many others come out in the red.

There are many people who raise animals to show, and one such person is Rick Williams, senior.

Williams raises nine animals and spends 10-14 hours a week taking care of them.

Everyday he spends about two hours running the sheep and working on the sheep's showmanship, which consists of "the way the lambs stand, the way they handle, the way they walk, and the way they react to the judges' feeling their legs and lower backs," he said.

Williams has a lot of money invested in his animals and in equipment.

"I bought eight lambs for $80 each, and one for $95." He has also been spending about $1000 a year on feed and about $50 on sheep blankets, combs, and brushes.

Another person who raises animals for show is Becky Fuentes, senior. She raises steers and usually has about three to five a year. She spends about $75 a week on feed, and spends from $800-$1200 apiece for the animals.

Fuentes works with her steers about 15 hours a week, washing, combing and teaching the animals to stand correctly.

To get ready for the shows, Fuentes tries to get the animals at the right weight for their height and she grooms their hair.

Jeff Sanders, sophomore, also raises sheep and pigs to show. "Right now I have two cross breed sheep, one suffock, and one pig."

Jeff is "about $600 in the hole" and spends from 10 to 20 hours a week working with his animals.

Messy, Messy, Messy — That's a

The dilemma of an untidy room is one encountered by all teenagers. This problem does not seem to bother many though.

There are many reasons cited for the sloppy appearance of one's room.

Zane Benson, sophomore, said, "It gets that way before I realize it. It's mainly clothes and stuff that gets thrown around and before long, it's messy."

Lance Scruggs, senior, also expressed his feelings about his room. "I decide to clean it when the rats have too much pride to live there."

Although a messy room may seem to be undesirable; its appearance is usually slow to change.

5th Annual Pantomime Excites Crowd

Excitement electrifies an already tense crowd as they await the 5th annual pantomime concert. The speech club has once again sponsored a fantastic show.

Appearances were made by such rock greats as Prince, Madonna, Ratt, and Autograph.

Capturing first place and the $25 prize was "Cell Block Tango" mimed by Jana Williams, Lisa Lumpkins, Krista Olin, Jeanne Cornelius and Sandra Galindo.

"The act took us about three weeks to prepare," said Cornelius. "We did the act in Drama for a Variety Show, so we were familiar with the song already."

While this song has never made the top 10 hit list, it was different. "We were hoping to win; we thought ours was unique enough to place somewhere in the top three," Cornelius said.

Williams added, "I was hoping we would place, but I was surprised when they announced us as the winners."

Being nervous was not really a problem for the all-girl group. "We practiced the act so much we didn't really get nervous," said Williams. "We were more excited than anything else."

The group's winnings were all in profit, since they were able to use what they had, and borrow the rest.

"Tom Green County Jail let us borrow the uniforms," said Cornelius.

Members of Duran Duran captured 2nd place at the pantomime contest. Members include: David Baughn, George Dockendorf, Carlos Mendez, Kevin McCulloch, and Michael Reis.

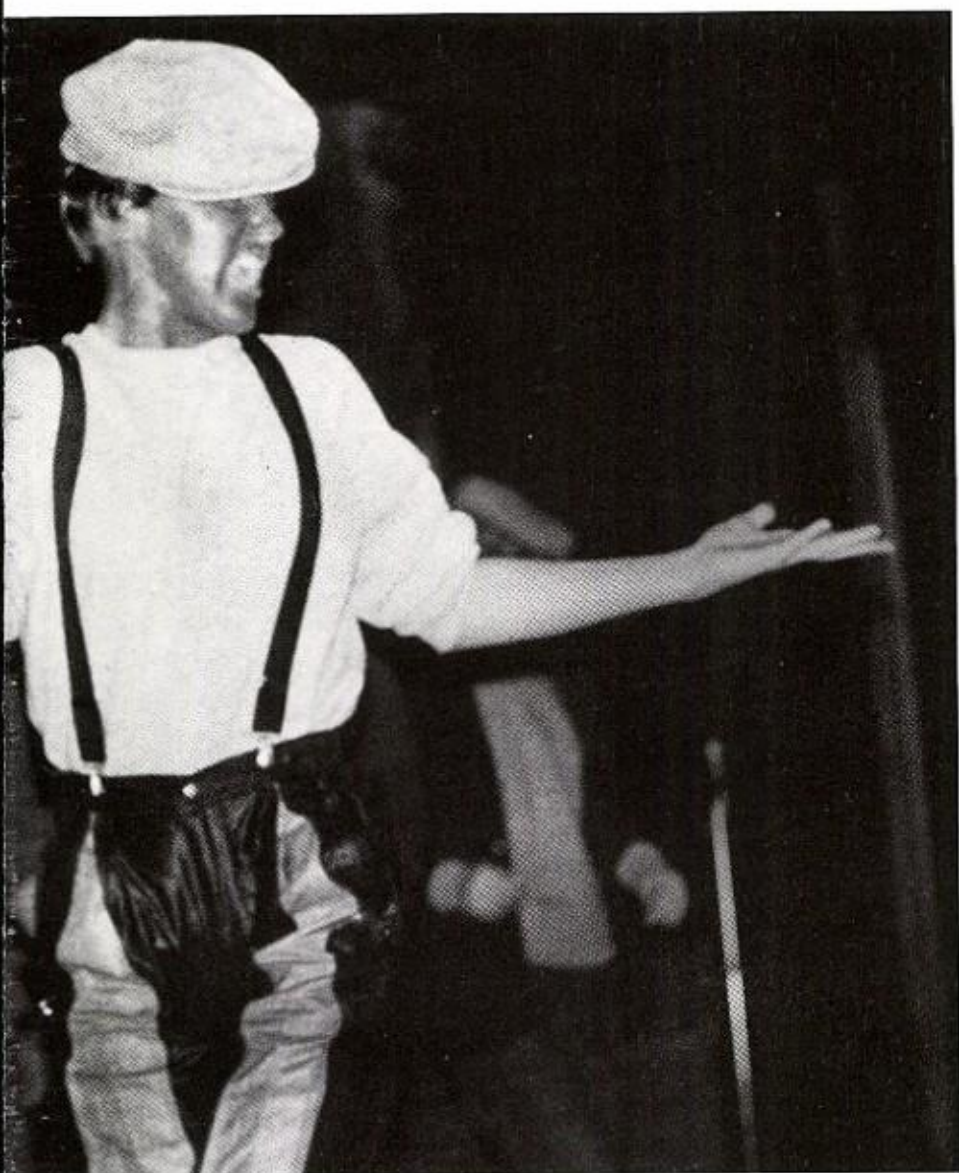

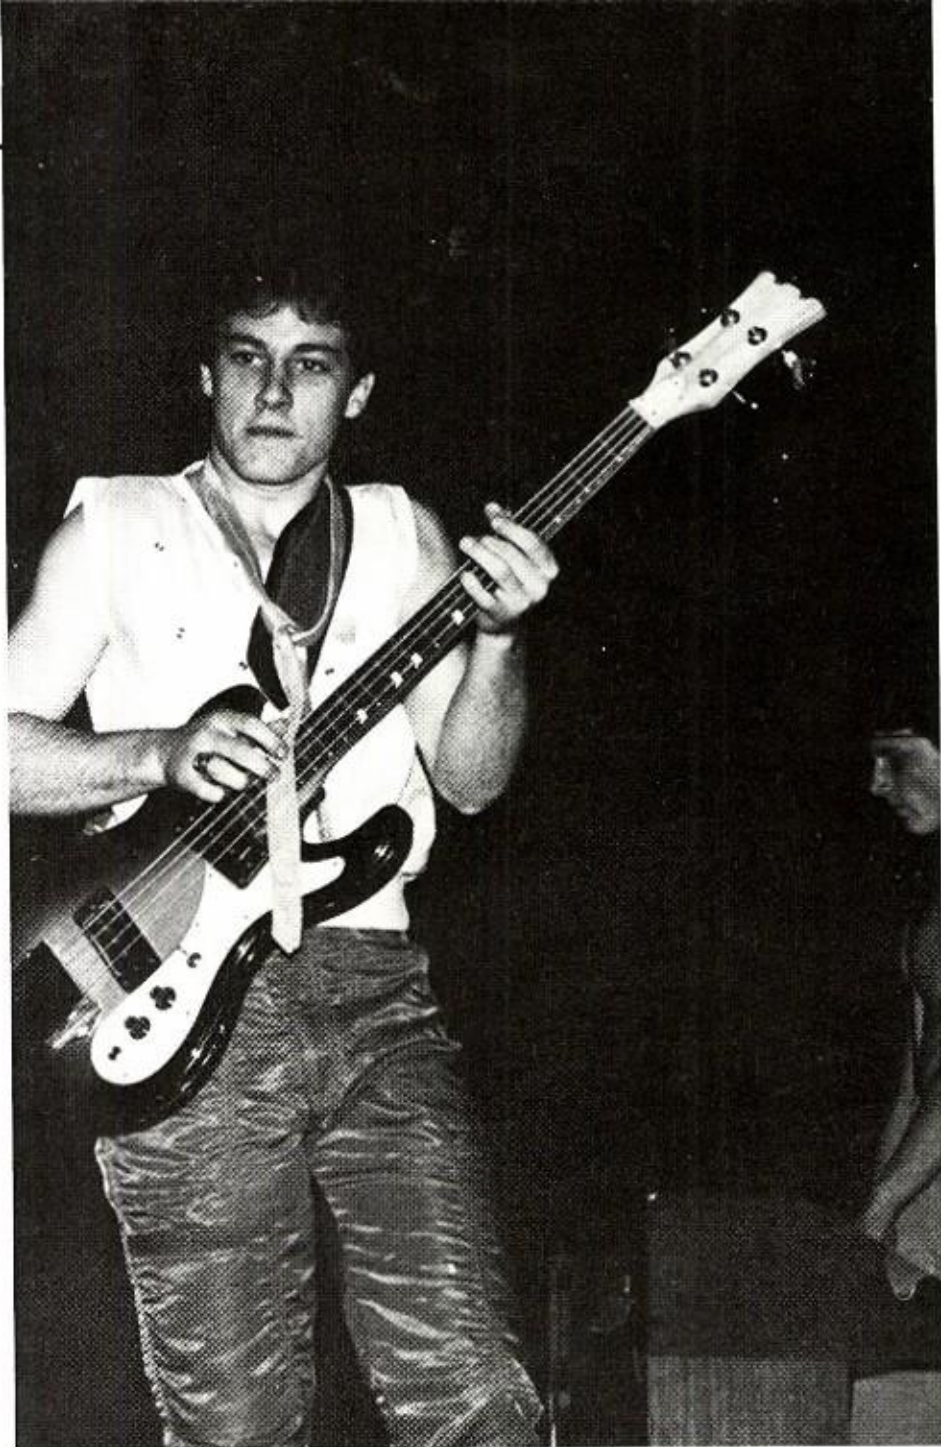

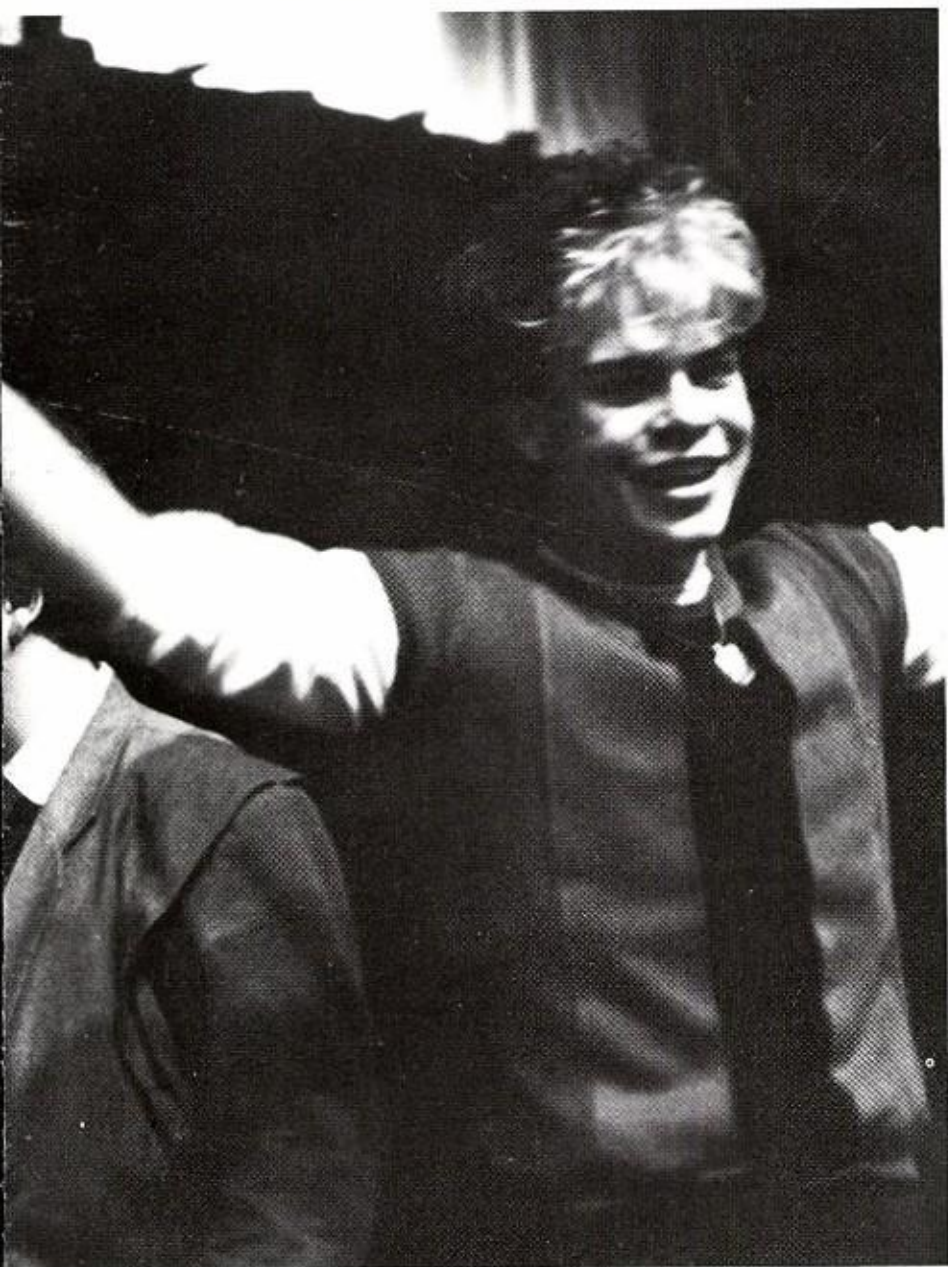

New Edition members Kathy Beeson, and Dede Gill strut their stuff.

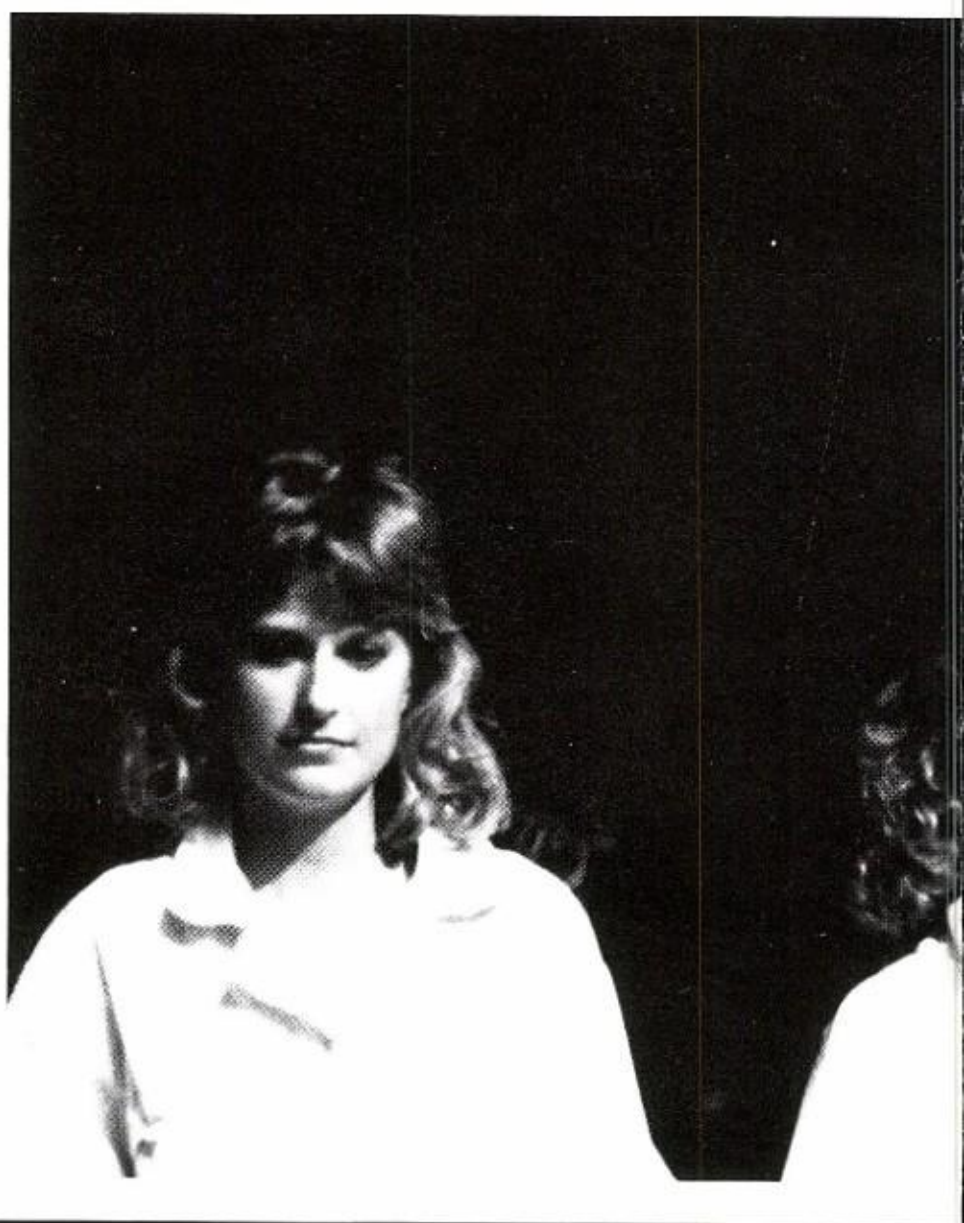

"Get Down!" Jay Scott, junior "jams" during the pantomime Contest.

"Let Me see" senior Dean Gill tries to remember what chord is next.

Stage Is Set for Anxious One-Nighters

Placing second, and taking the $15 prize was "The Reflex," mimed by David Baughn, Michael Reis, Carlos Mendez, Kevin McCullough and George Dockendorf.

This act probably had more money invested in it than many of the others.

"I spent over $30 on my haircut alone," Baughn said.

Mendez and McCullough also spent some money on their clothes.

The decision on what act to pantomime came from the personal tastes of the band members.

"I've been a big Duran, Duran fan for a very long time," Baughn said. "We decided on the 'Reflex' before the school year even started. But the biggest reason we did Duran was because we had seen them in Dallas for their concert and they had a very exciting stage show."

Preparing for the act was also more than gathering up a few guitars and learning the words.

"I'd say we spent about 17 or 18 hours total drawn out over several days," Baughn said.

Nervousness was not too much of a concern for the Duran group.

According to Reis, "I got a little jumpy when we went out on stage, but I settled down when the music started."

Another group member, McCullough said, "I don't think any of us were nervous. We were pretty confident."

Placing third was Chaka Khan's "I Feel for You," portrayed by Terry Fay, Ricky Hernandez and Charles Wells. Miming the words was Fay while Hernandez and Wells performed break dancing movements.

"I dance with a group and we practice everyday," said Hernandez. "I'm used to dancing in front of crowds."

The prize money was all profit for the group since "we already had the clothes, we just used our imaginations," Hernandez said.

"Madonna?" Junior Mellissa Crews tells the audience a few verses.

Steve White, junior, dreams of the girls and the surf as he performs The Beach Boy Medley.

Krista Olin, and Jana Williams, both seniors, and Lisa Lumpkins, junior, prepare to perform.

Coronation Honors Favorites

School Personalities Presented at Ceremony

The theme was "Reach for the Stars" and the stars were numerous at the Lake View Coronation. Besides the all-school favorites being crowned, the class favorites were also honored.

As stars hung from helium balloons, the Lake View stars were announced, given a sash and carnation or boutonniere. Although some of the favorites were absent due to a track meet, the night was a joyous occasion for those present.

A dance followed the ceremony and ended the evening with a high note.

The senior favorites were Mark Cox and Lisa White.

During the ceremony, Lois Cauley pins Jimmy Jones and Elizabeth Wells, seniors.

Letter Jackets:

They Don't Come Easily

Letter jackets are a source of pride and accomplishment and are a common sight around school. Yet they don't come easily — and can even be taken away.

Numerous clubs and athletic groups award letter jackets annually. In Office Education Association, some 16-20 jackets are usually purchased, but the students must pay for them. The club, however, buys the letter and the OEA patch.

Mrs. Barbara Purser, OEA sponsor, said her criteria for awarding letters was "to do good in their job, and good attendance in class."

In football, 18 jackets were presented this year, and the average is about 15 per year.

Requirements for an athletic jacket are one of participation. "The student has had to be on the varsity squad before they are allowed to letter," Coach Jim Slaughter said.

Removing a jacket from an athlete has happened under Coach Slaughter.

"I have taken a jacket away because they lettered in a short period of time and quit the team."

Most of the money for letter jackets comes from the club's fund raising projects which included candy sales, giftware sales, Booster Club cards sales, and even an occasional teacher vs. student volleyball game.

Mr. James Carroll, band director, awards jackets to "good students, and you have to be a junior or senior to receive one."

While he has never removed a jacket once it was awarded he "would not rule out the possibility due to discipline action which would be degrading to the jacket and band."

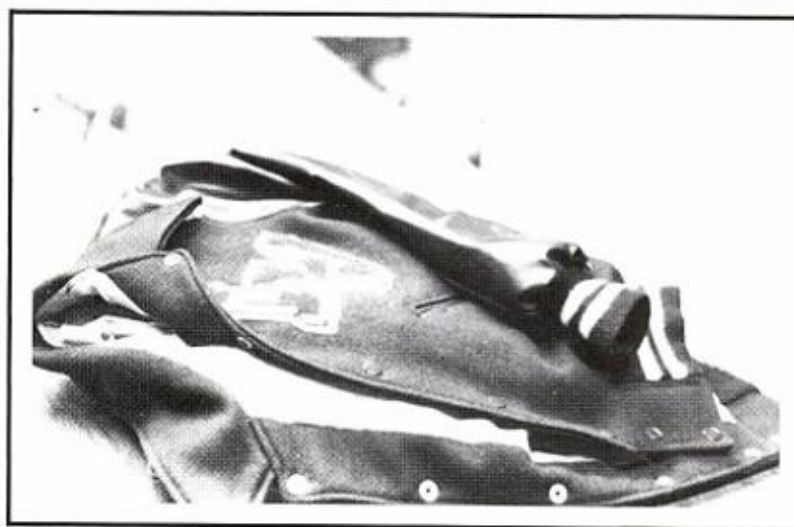

U.I.L. literary jackets are also presented to first, second or third place winners in the district literary contest. This is a rather unique award, since no other school in this district gives the literary winners a jacket.

Competition includes speech, drama, one-act, journalism, spelling, ready writing, number sense, calculator, shorthand, typing and science.

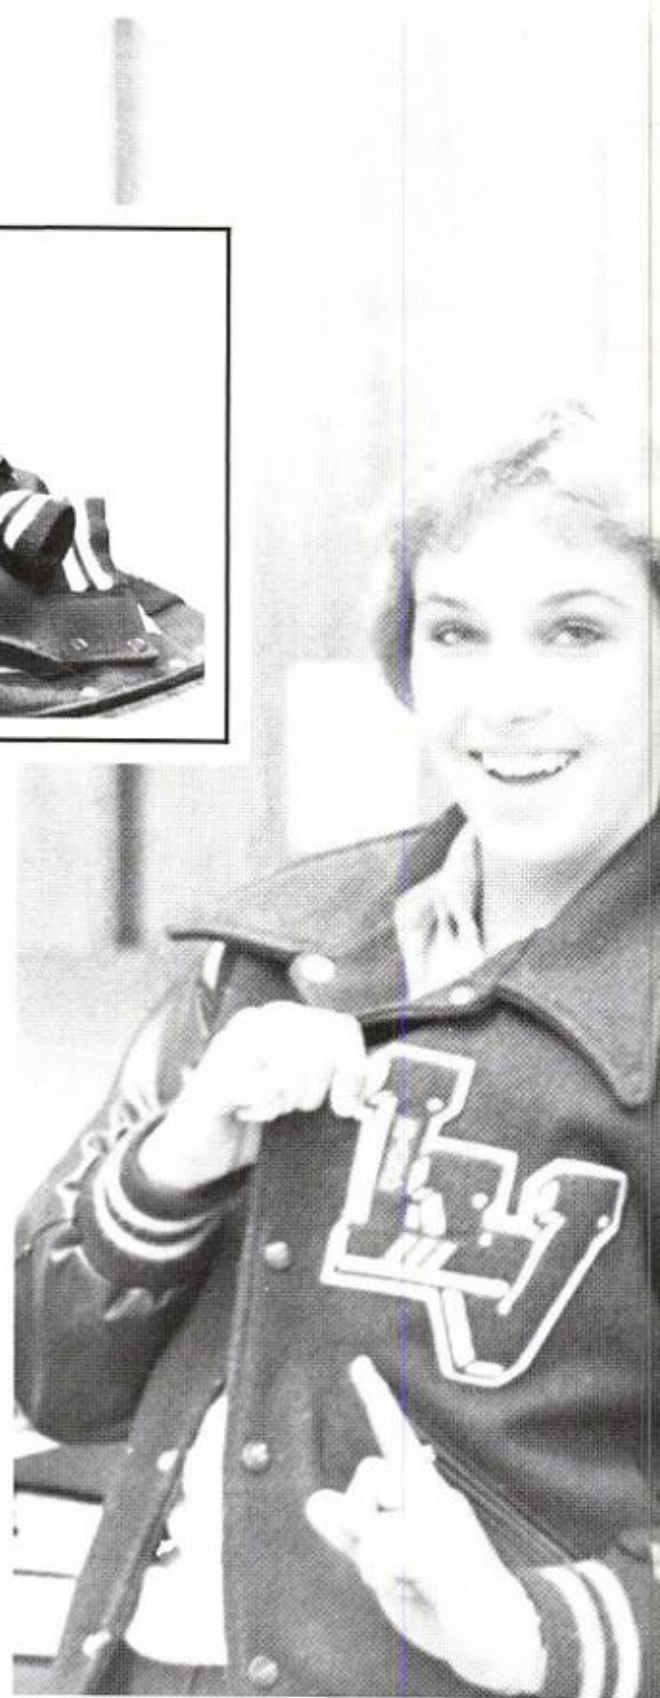

On the average, two or three jackets are presented each year to U.I.L. winners.

"Usually more students are eligible for a jacket, but because they received one in another area,

Displaying their letter jackets which are hard to come by are Paula Freeman, Wendy Nichols and Sandra Galindo, all juniors.

they cannot receive one for U.I.L.," Mrs. Janie DeLaney said. "A student may now only receive one jacket and one letter in high school."

The moment worth waiting for is here. Cheryl McKinnerney, junior, receives her band letter jacket from Mr. James Carroll, band director.

Having a jacket with three letters is really special for Artie Edmond, senior.

SNOW POWDERS WEST TEXAS

Snow powdered Texas during two separate snow falls in January shutting down schools, businesses and closing some highways.

While some considered it a hardship, others looked upon the snow with delight, curiosity and a new way to have fun.

Sledding became a popular snow sport and the art of building snowmen was a favorite pastime for the young, old, and in-between.

Snow balls were made, snow fights were started and ended and as always there were cold noses, cold hands and feet . . . and after it was all over, a head cold.

Enjoying that strange substance that so rarely falls is Brandy and Leddy Anthony, Lance Scruggs, and Mary Warren.

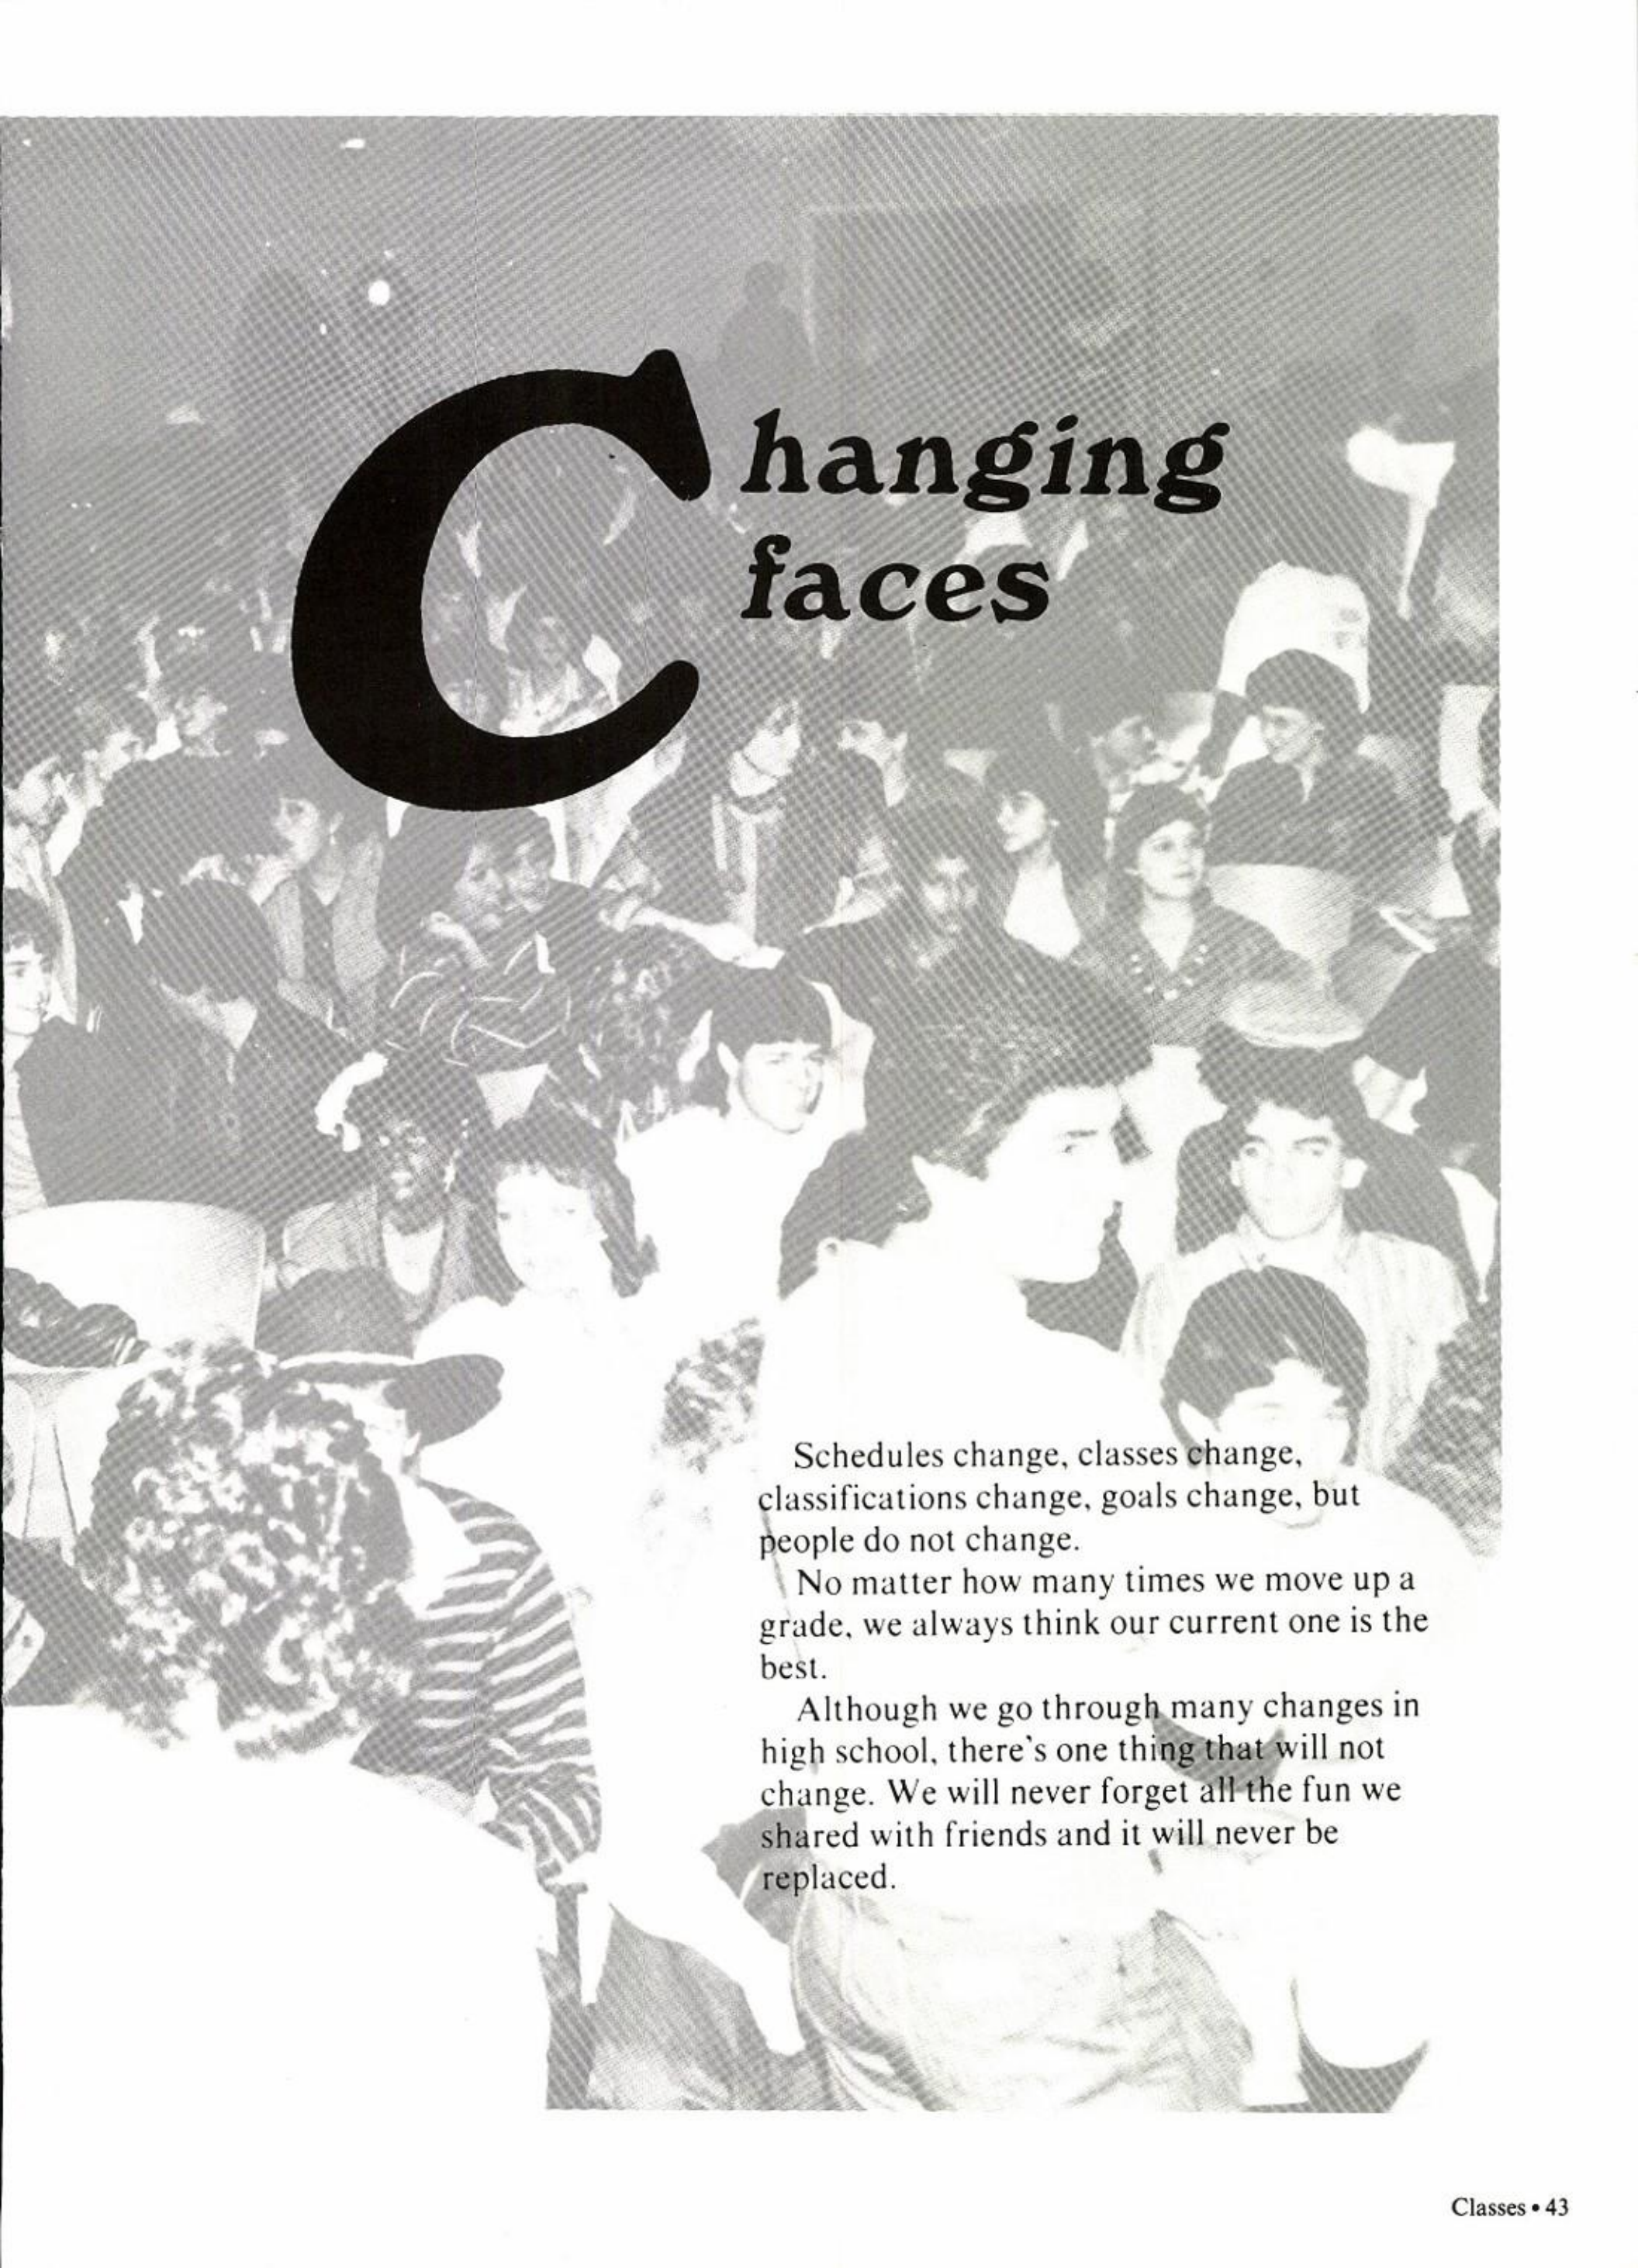

Ready and waiting to start the game is the first period physical education class.

Lincoln Auditorium awaits the opening of the pantomime show.

Changing faces

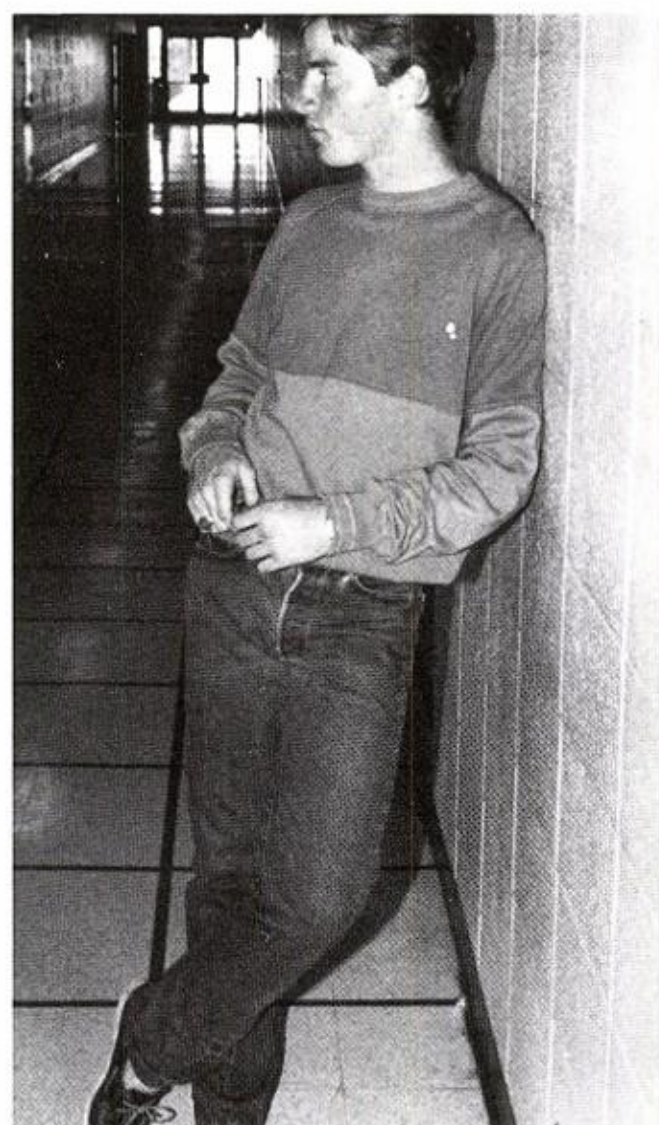

Schedules change, classes change, classifications change, goals change, but people do not change.

No matter how many times we move up a grade, we always think our current one is the best.

Although we go through many changes in high school, there's one thing that will not change. We will never forget all the fun we shared with friends and it will never be replaced.

Senior Class Officers

Holding a class office is more than just a title to impress with, it is also a responsibility. This year's senior class officers have more than lived up to what has been expected of them by arranging dances, organizing homecoming committees and taking care of graduation details.

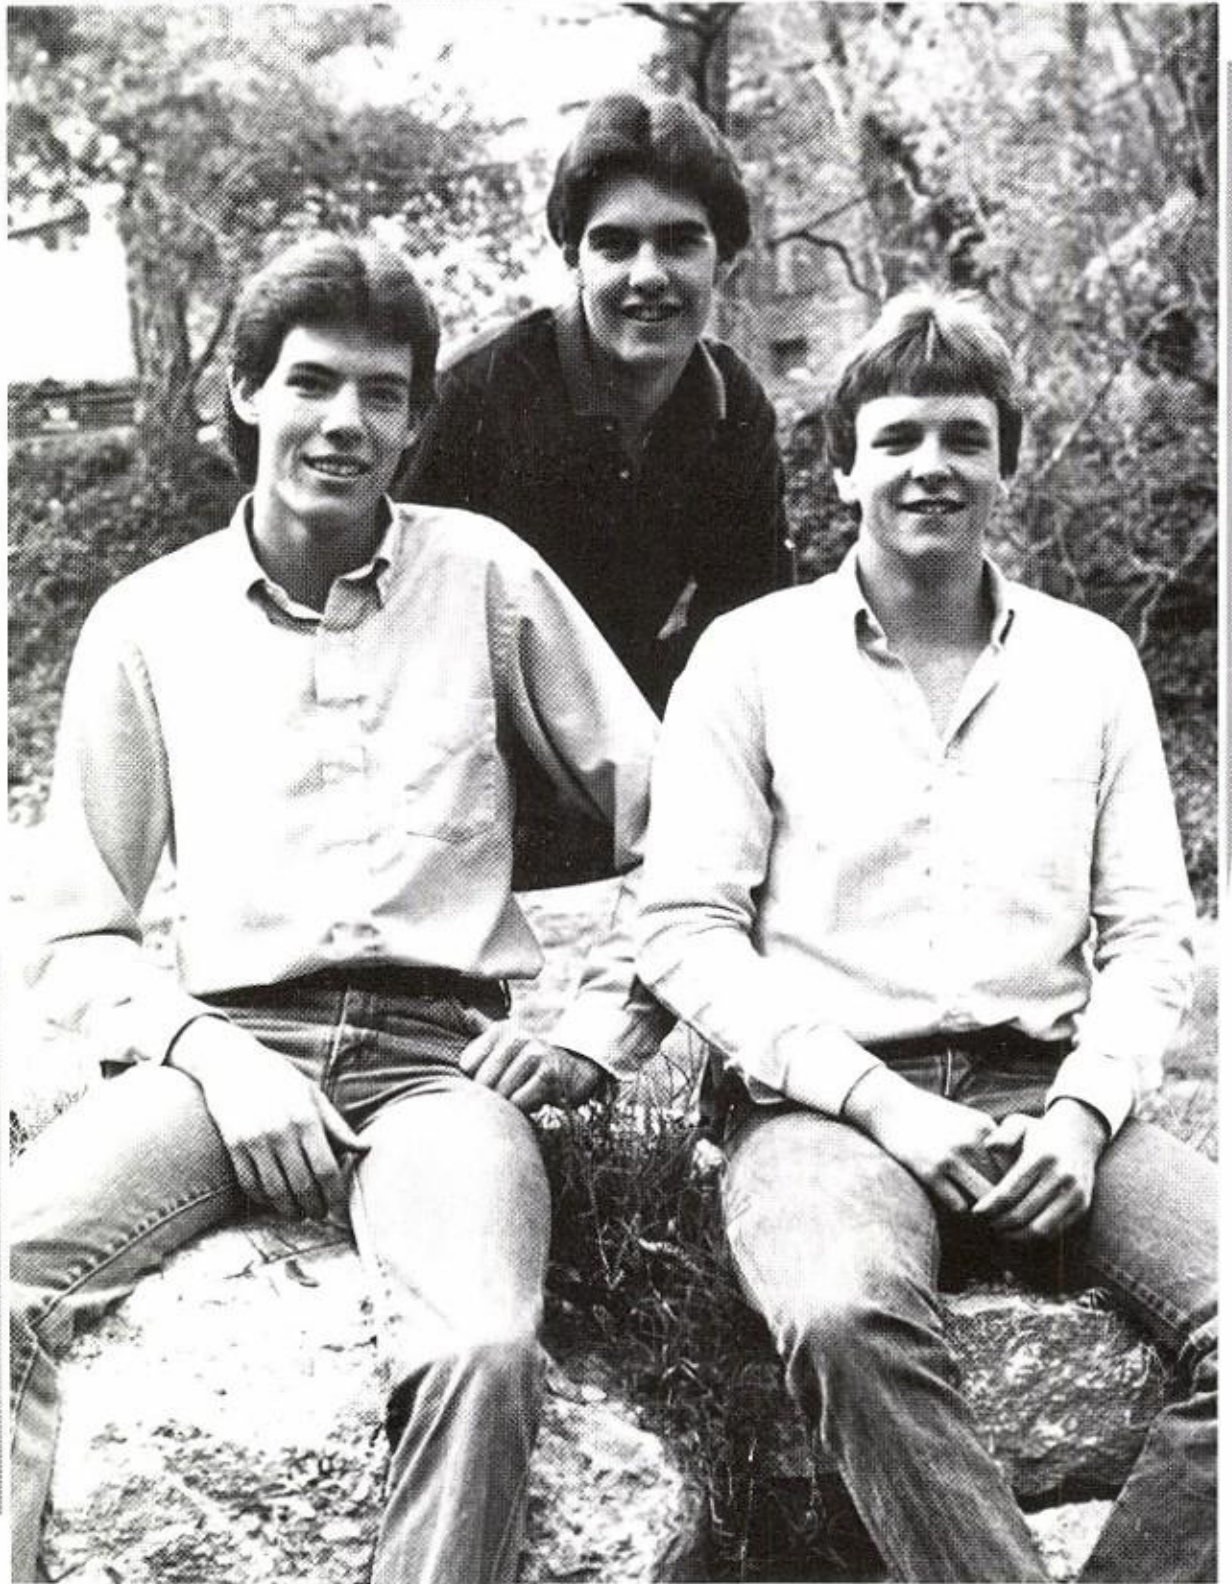

This year's officers are Jimmy Jones, president; Jerry Bob Bristo, vice-president; and Mark Cox, secretary-treasurer.

Jones said, "We keep up with events that are yearly functions and annual events such as dances and class reunions."

This year's senior class won first place in the homecoming parade float competition for their "Beat Fort Stockton" float: a panther hanging from a noose in the center of an erect wooden float.

Bristo was in charge of the officer's end of Homecoming activities.

Jones added that officers also show leadership for the other classes as well as carrying on the tradition of leaving something to the school.

Smoker" program had 45 smokers adopted from Lake View.

"The participation was great," Mrs. Nevins said. "I thought that the kids might be a little shy but everyone really seemed to have fun."

The money raised was donated to the American Cancer Society in honor of the following Lake View graduates who have suffered from cancer: Anne Vardeman Jackson, Terry Anderson, Joe David Ward, Bob Roundtree, Sean Vick, Kent Keating, and Sandra Aten.

The money is also being donated in memory of Hubert Hasselman, Minnie Riperton, Dorothy McLemore, Gloria Brash, John Bright, Bill Benson, and Pete Hitch.

Awaiting to show how good a kiss can be is Jeff Sanders, sophomore.

Whispering sweet nothing's into Oscar Garcia's ears, is Elizabeth Wells, senior.

Junior class Officers

The junior class officers for this past year were Mason West, president; Wade Harris, vice-president; and Leia Leland, secretary-treasurer.

West explained his job as helping "to get everyone organized" for class projects. The biggest project of the year was the junior-senior prom.

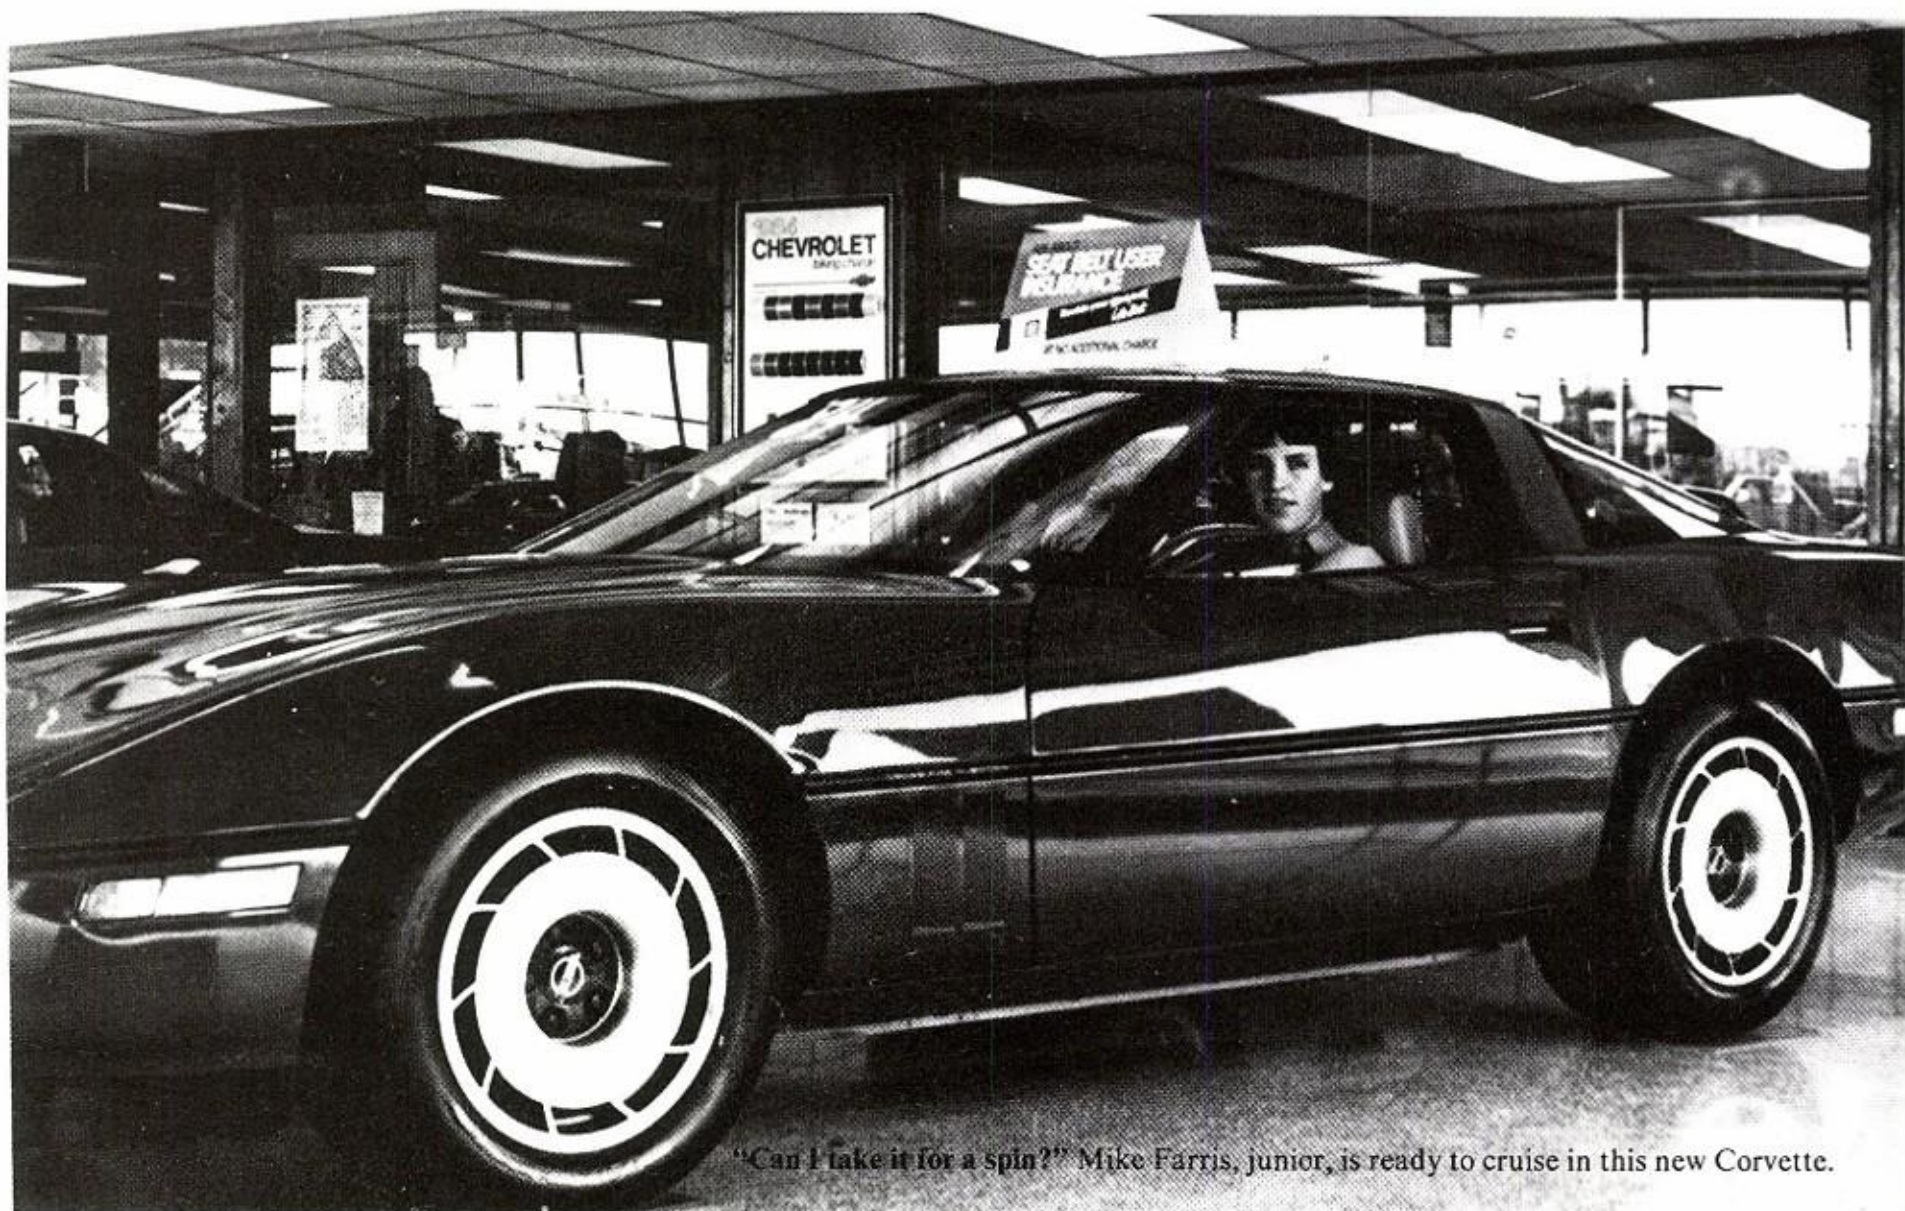

Leland estimated the cost of the prom to be about 1,400. The money was raised through different fundraising events. The biggest money-maker was the concession stand, which helped raise over half of the money that was needed.

"Go ahead punk, make my day." Tim Michalewicz, junior seems to say.

"I like your style." Casey Wester and Darin Sudnick, juniors, model the latest vogue.

Mason West, president; Wade Harris, vice-president; and Leia Leland, secretary-treasurer.

CRUISING!

Juniors find responsibility, tradition, and wild stunts all part of the scene

The junior class has recently joined the driving craze. For most, driving is a new experience.

Dana Howell "felt a sense of independence" when she received her license. Along with driving comes the big responsibility of car payments and insurance. To lighten the load, parents are helping out.

Shawn Leonard said his parents "paid for the car and I paid for the insurance."

Now that they have their license, many students have joined the tradition of going out on the drag. The reasons for going are various.

"I go to chase girls," commented David Baughn, while Anita Padilla goes to "find parties."

Most students have a curfew of 12:30, so this gives them plenty of time to pull wild stunts. When asked about her wild stunts, Le Ann Daniel said she "climbed the billboard in front of Dean's Haircuts."

Derek Turner decided to "run over" Keith Meek. Keith commented that his only wild stunt was letting Derek run over him.

Other juniors have been less fortunate, and have not yet received a license. Jeanne Cornelius said she's doing "fine without one, but it would be nice."

For those of you who do not yet have a license, be patient! You will soon pick up on this fast-paced craze.

For the sophomore class officers, homecoming represented one of the busiest times. Days of planning, gathering materials, and just plain hard work went into the homecoming float preparation.

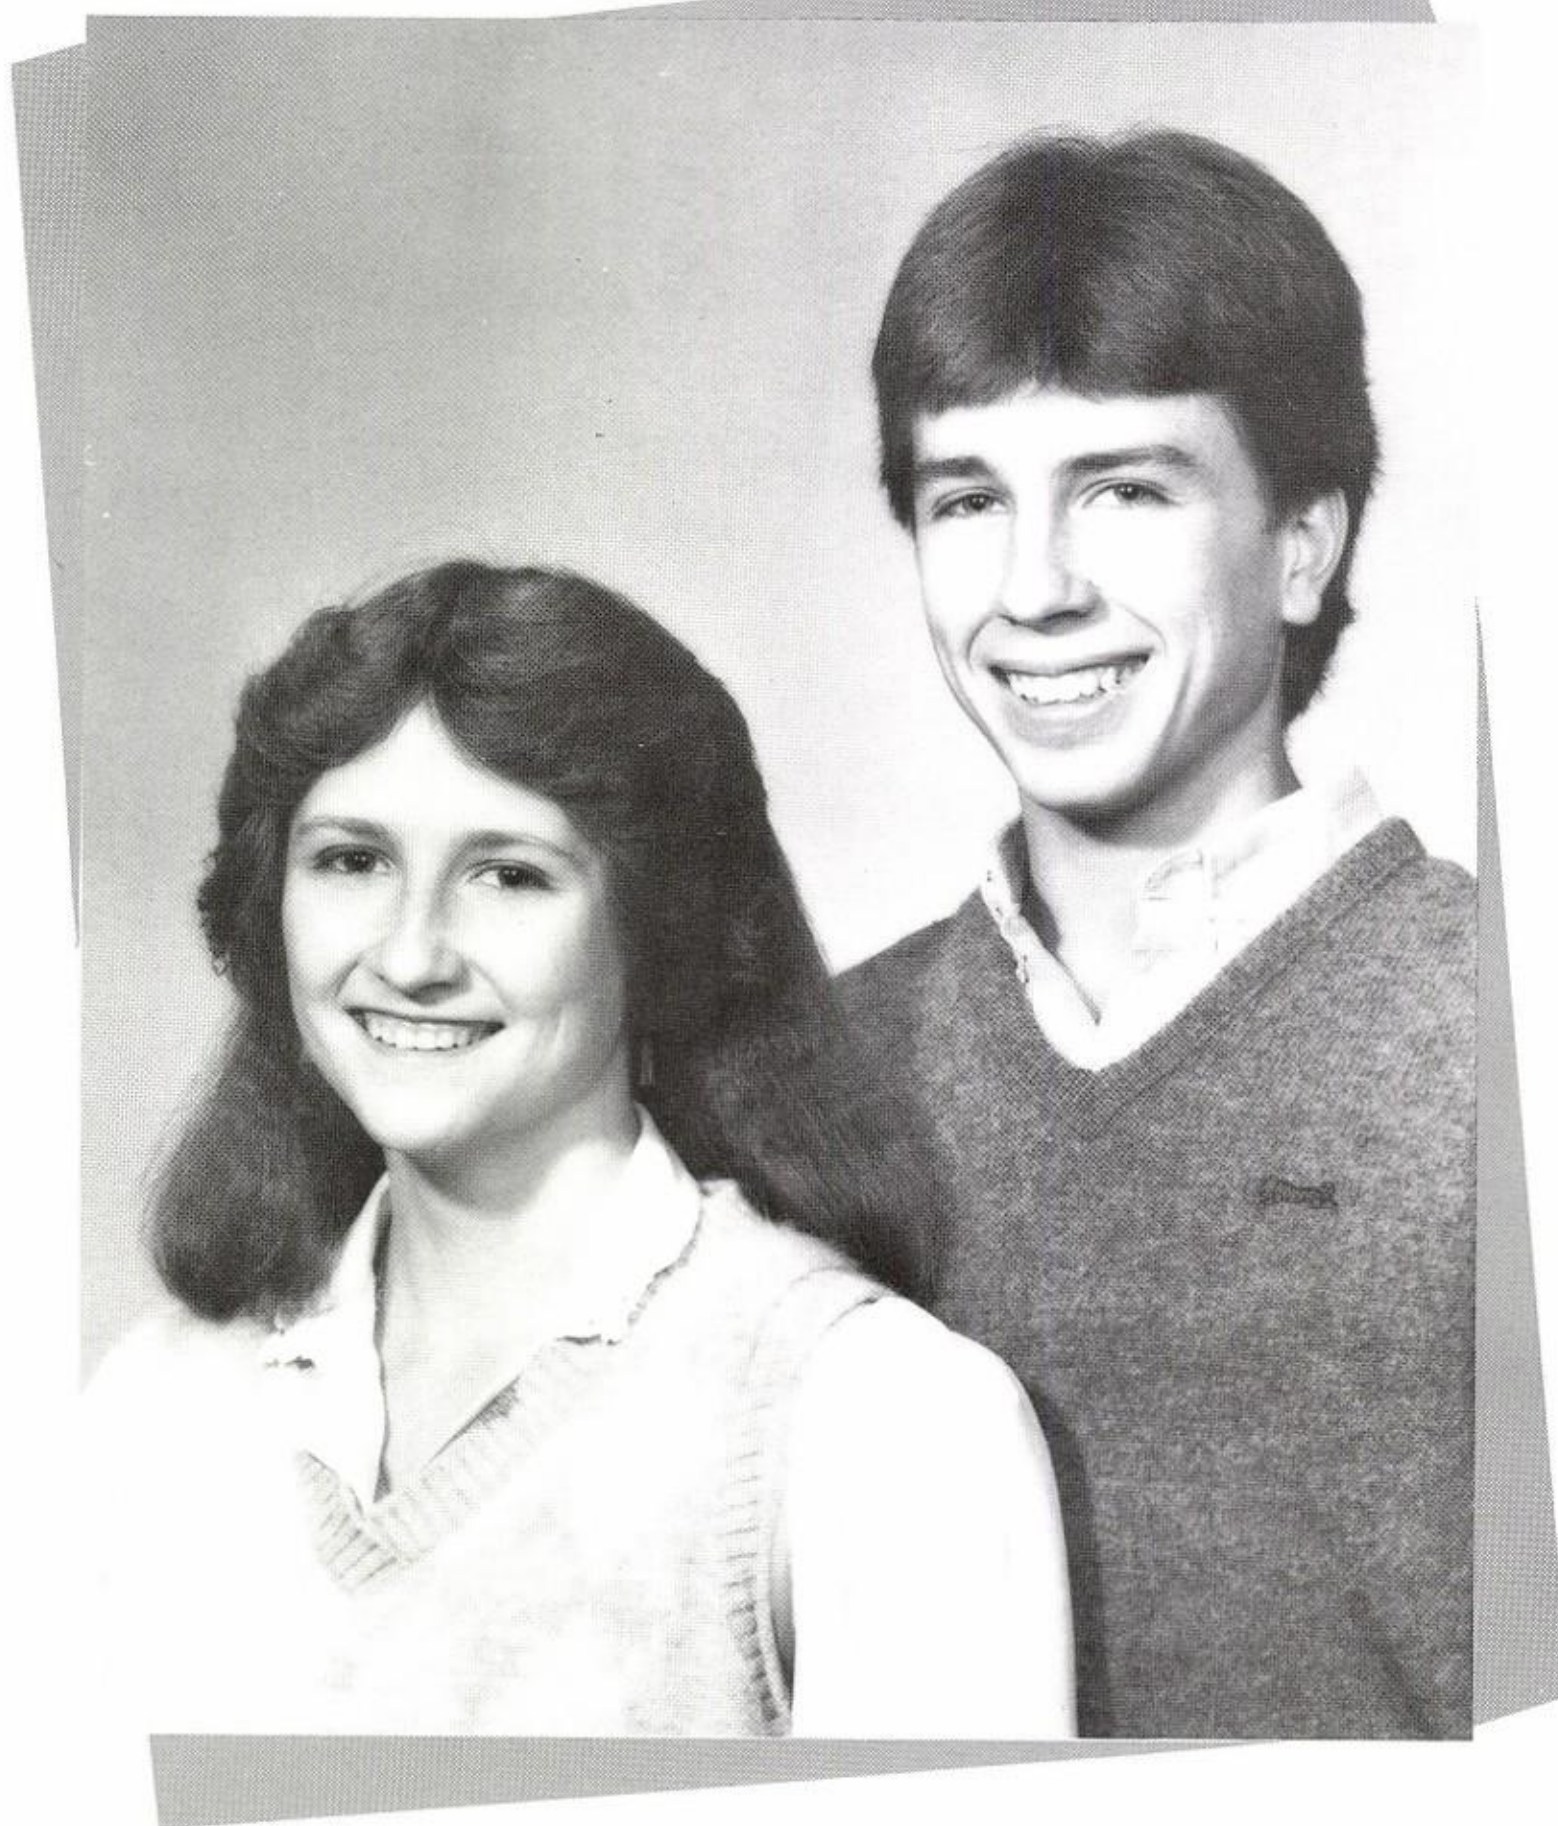

But the pay-off came in the form of a second place award for their heart-shaped float entitled "Love Those Chiefs".

The officers were also instrumental in a gift collection for clients of the San Angelo State School.

Sophomore favorites this year were Angie Gordon and Brent Sparks.

Gordon was a participant this year in Chiefettes, National Honor Society, Choir, and was the sophomore representative. "I think I got sophomore favorite because I get along with everyone pretty well," she said. "I feel honored because it's the students that vote on it." Angie said that when she heard her name called as sophomore favorite she was surprised.

Sparks participated in Student Council, National Honor Society, and JV Basketball. "I was in awe when they called my name over the intercom. I was in typing and I banged my head on the typewriter. I never thought I'd get something like this at Lake View," Brent said.

Freshmen Class Officers

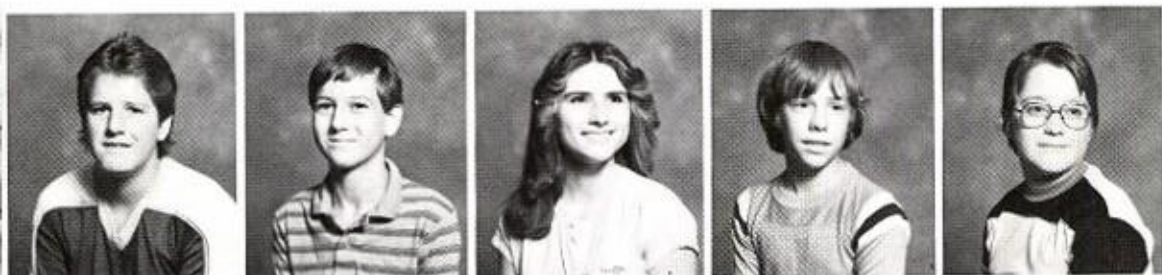

The main activity of freshman class officers is the preparation for homecoming.

Janda, Manda, and Cindy led the freshman class in constructing a float, and in drawing and painting a second place homecoming sign.

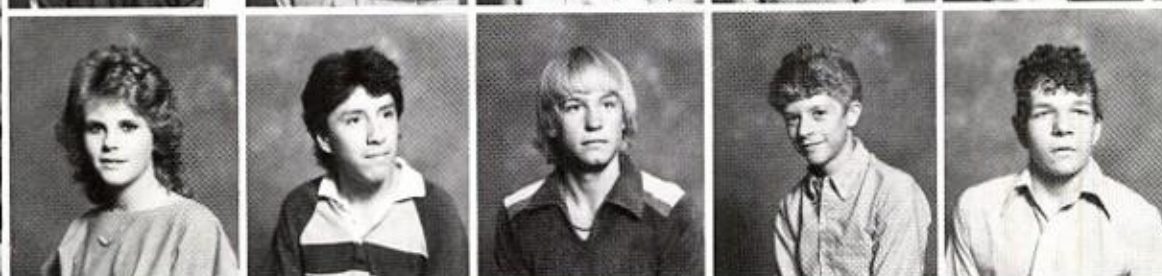

They urged the freshmen to bring gifts at Christmas to donate to the clients at the San Angelo Center—a Christmas gift drive sponsored by Student Council.

Change over

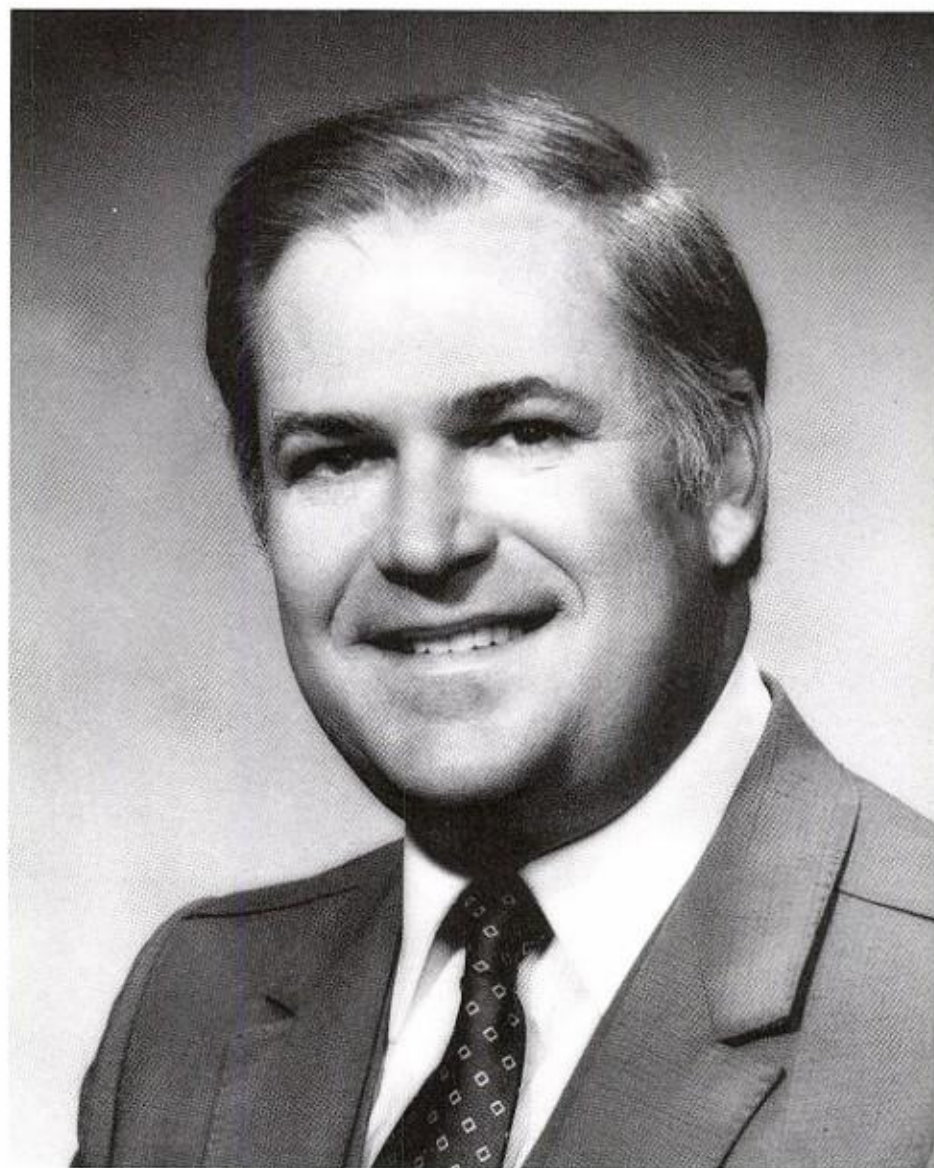

Along with the students having to change their ways, the teachers also had to adapt to all of the new rules and regulations. The passing grade being a 70, limited extra curricular time and required tutoring were all implemented this year. Assemblies were a thing of the past. As things got tough, the teachers got tougher. A change over was necessary and the faculty was there to make it all happen.

Lab safety comes first to Mr. Jerry Johnson.

Mr. Bill Graves, Superintendent.

Mr. Hershel Duckworth, Principal

Along with the growing the interest in computers came the increased need for more computers and the facilities to house them.

In the fall, 27 computers were added to the current inventory to make a total of 32. The bond issue, passed in February, made it possible to build permanent facilities for these new computers.

But the biggest change for the year was called House Bill 72.

"The most positive thing that has occurred from the new law is the improvement in attendance," said Mr. Herschel Duckworth, principal. He also commented that it is better than he can ever remember.

Raising the passing grade from a 60 to a 70 was also a big difference. "Most people do what is required of them -it is human nature," said Mr. Duckworth.

The recently passed bond issue will add eight classrooms to the school. "These rooms will accommodate about 35 people each and will be utilized for straight academic instruction," said Mr. Duckworth. The growth of this school is anticipated to reach 1,200 in the near future.

Looking onward, Mr. Hershel Duckworth, and Mr. "Doc" Smith watch the game.

Mrs. Barker Teacher of Year

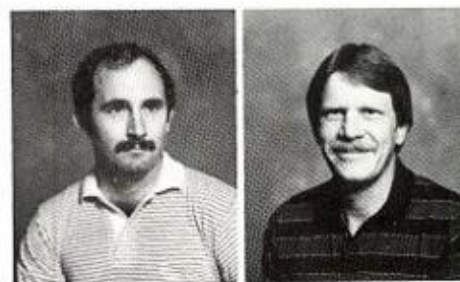

Mrs. Ann Barker was the students' choice for teacher of the year. Known to some of her students as "Ma Barker" or "Mother Superior," she became confused when students offered their congratulations. "I did not hear the announcement....when one of the kids explained, I thought she was kidding." Needless to say, the students weren't kidding.

Mrs. Barker, known for her strict disciplinary actions, also has a keen sense of humor. She jokingly felt she was elected because "... the students wanted to show their appreciation for my devoted teaching of the Bergan-Evans vocabulary program."

This is Mrs. Barker's first time to be honored as teacher of the year. She added, "I hope the students realize that I am interested in them and really care about them."

Economics (n) 1. of, relating to, or concerned with the production, distribution and consumption of commodities. 2. New course required at Lake View.

Economics is the latest course that the Texas State Legislature has required students to take as either juniors or seniors before graduating.

Approximately 150 students are enrolled in six classes taught by Mrs. Jean Martin and Mr. Roy Griffin.

The teachers cover topics such as History of U.S. business, types of business, the stock market, the Federal Reserve System, and banking.

Mr. Griffin explained he enjoyed teaching Economics because, "each day one explores deeper into the subject matter. It is interesting and useful to study."

WALKING AROUND CLASS, Mr. Simpson, Social Studies Chairman, talks to one of the students.

Teachers Are People, Too

Students see teachers at school during the school hours, but few students realize how much time before 7:45 and after 3:45 teachers work.

Teachers are required to meet with parents, administrators and they always have their constant load of paperwork.

Some teachers are active as sponsors for clubs such as Science and Math Clubs, National Honor Society, and Speech. Much of their spare time is spent with these activities.

"After school I spend an average of 20-25 hours per week preparing lecture notes, planning activities, grading and catching up absentee kids," said Mr. Rick Anderson, science teacher.

Mr. Anderson is also at school before 7 a.m. three or four days a week.

"Besides the routine of the day, I go home after 3:45 p.m. and have papers to grade," Mrs. Debbie Kelly, science teacher, said. Her example of the amount of papers and time was if a teacher has 120 students (which is about 5 classes) and he or she spends just one minute on each paper to grade, that the teacher would have spent more than two hours just on grades. Planning the next day's activities, typing worksheets, tests, making up worksheets and tests must also be done.

Added to this, some teachers have a second job and there are some that are still working on an advanced degree, such as Mr. Anderson.

"This means more work and research," he said.

Rest and relaxation is sometimes a rare commodity for these dedicated faculty members.

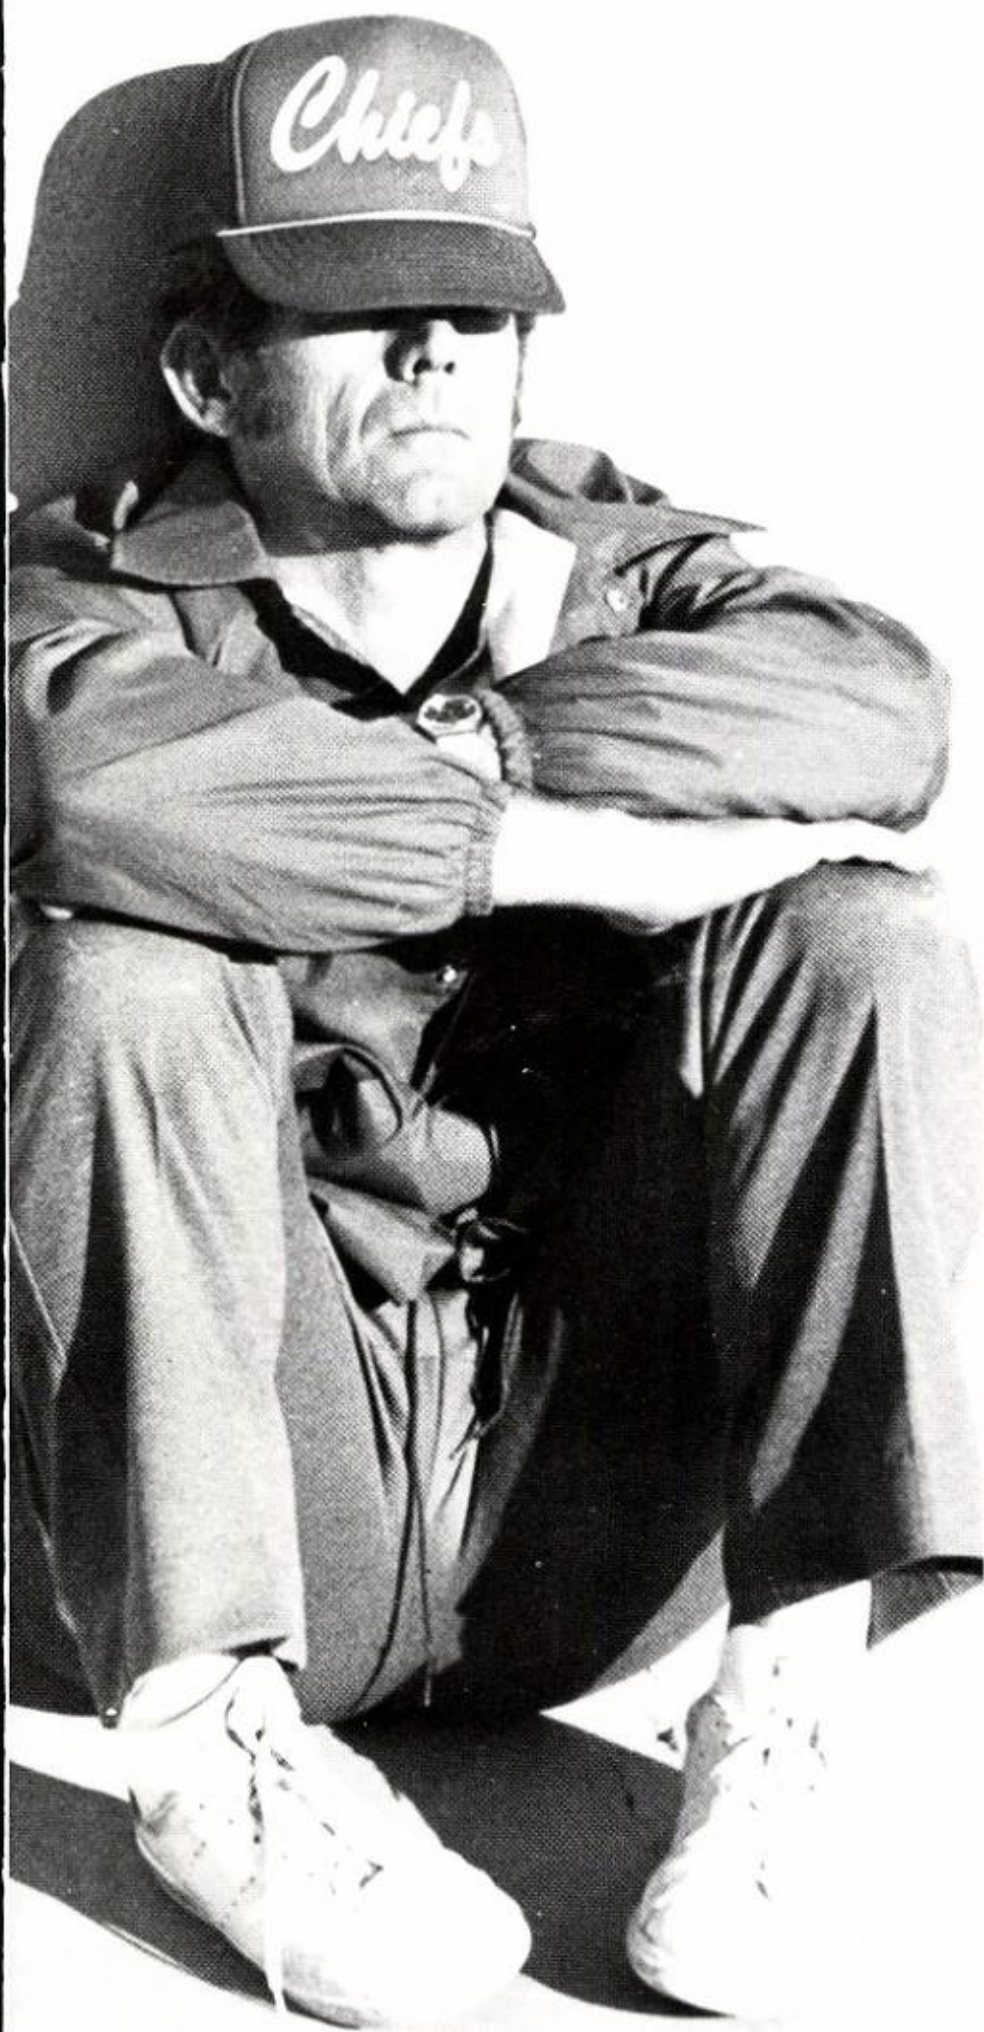

"I usually get to slow down by 10 p.m.," said Mrs. Kelly, "and at this time it's just for myself."

Discussing an issue Mrs. JoAnn Walters, Mrs. Debbie Kelly and Mrs. Beverly Nevins give their own opinion.

Mr. Rick Anderson grades his papers for class.

Data Processing

The processing of words for writing business letters, research papers, mailing lists and numerous other functions can all be accomplished in the new data processing course.

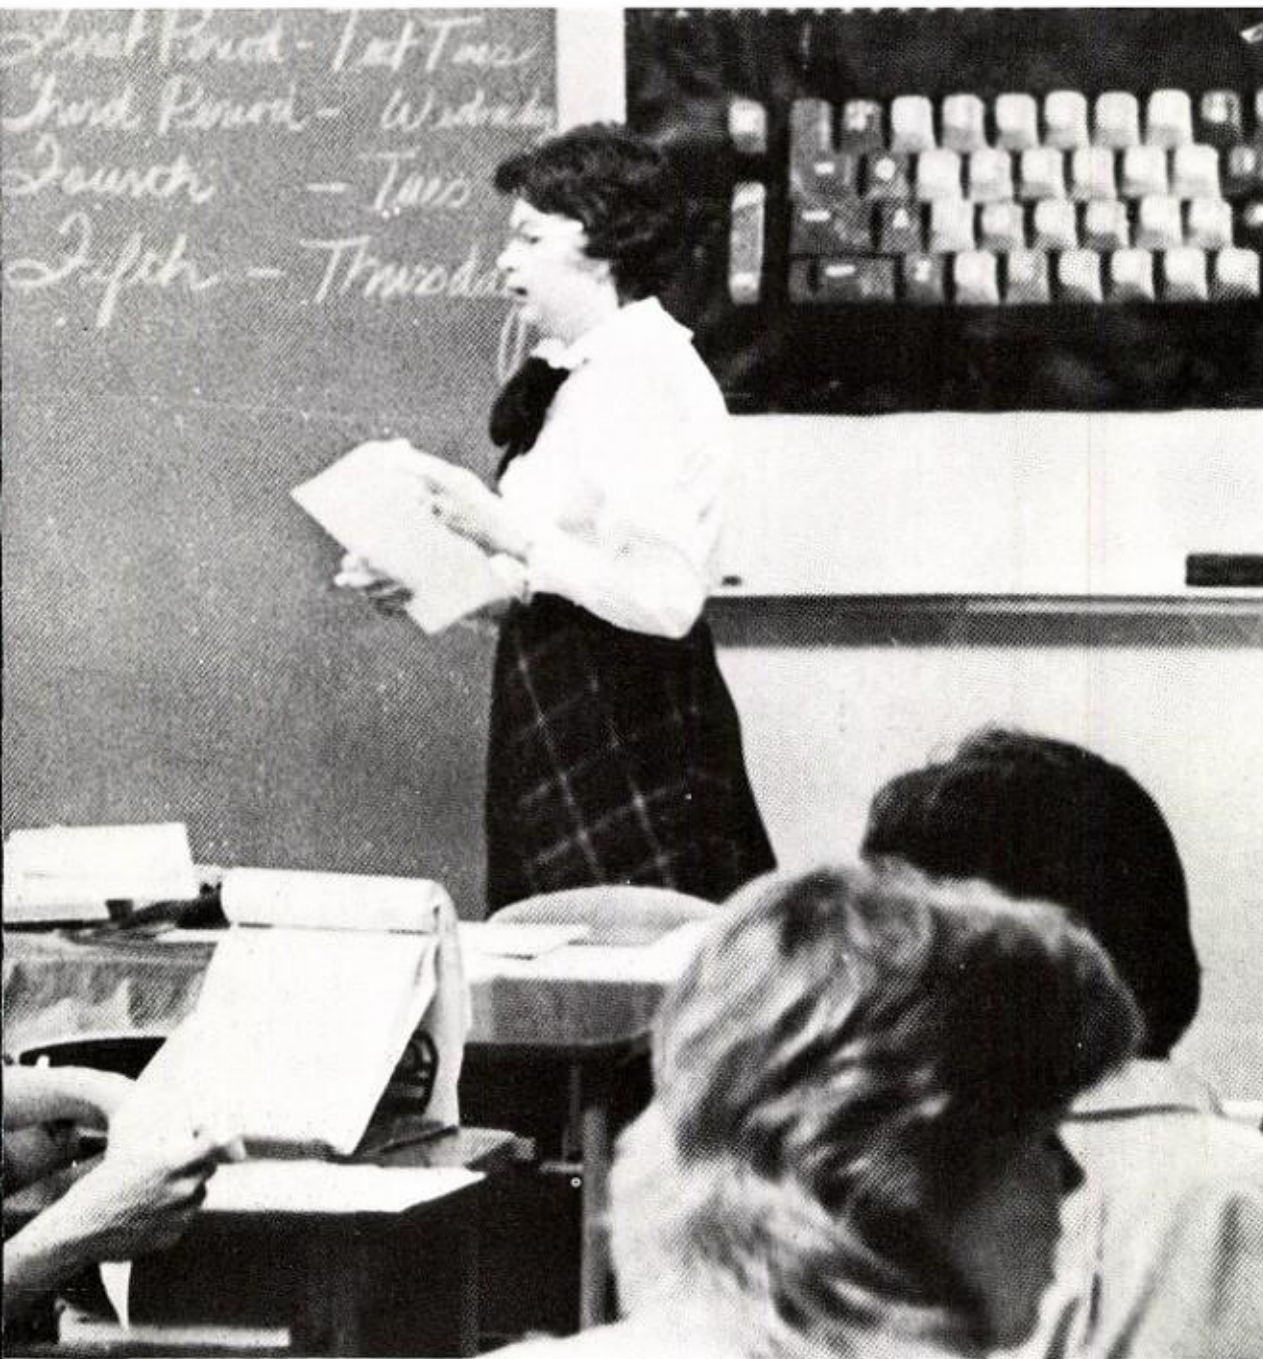

Taught by Mrs. Linda Simpson, the class is capable of handling 18 students each semester for the one-semester course.

"I think the new data processing course is an important addition to Lake View," said Mrs. Simpson. "Computers are IN and it is important for students to learn as much as possible about them before entering the work force or college."

Students learn the touch method of typing for use in inputting information into the computer as well as learning to use the TRS-80 and IBM PCjr. computers. They spend one six weeks learning the keyboard and two six weeks in the computer lab working on the computers.

"I think students particularly enjoy working with the computers, and enjoy making the computers work for them," said Mrs. Simpson.

Course Added

Students become familiar with the word processing abilities of the computer and learn how to operate the two different computers which the school has.

Some objectives for this course include learning to use the "computer" vocabulary and learning to use the computer as a word processor.

"This is valuable experience for students just entering the job market as well as for those who think they might want to pursue the computer field further as a career," Mrs. Simpson said. "Students are encouraged to begin using computers while in this class to perform their own personal assignments of reports, etc."

According to Mrs. Simpson, "Teaching this class has been very rewarding. It is more work than a normal class but very exciting to see all the things that students can accomplish."

Library Adds 500 Books Annually

Talking, dipping, stealing books — these are all problems in the library.

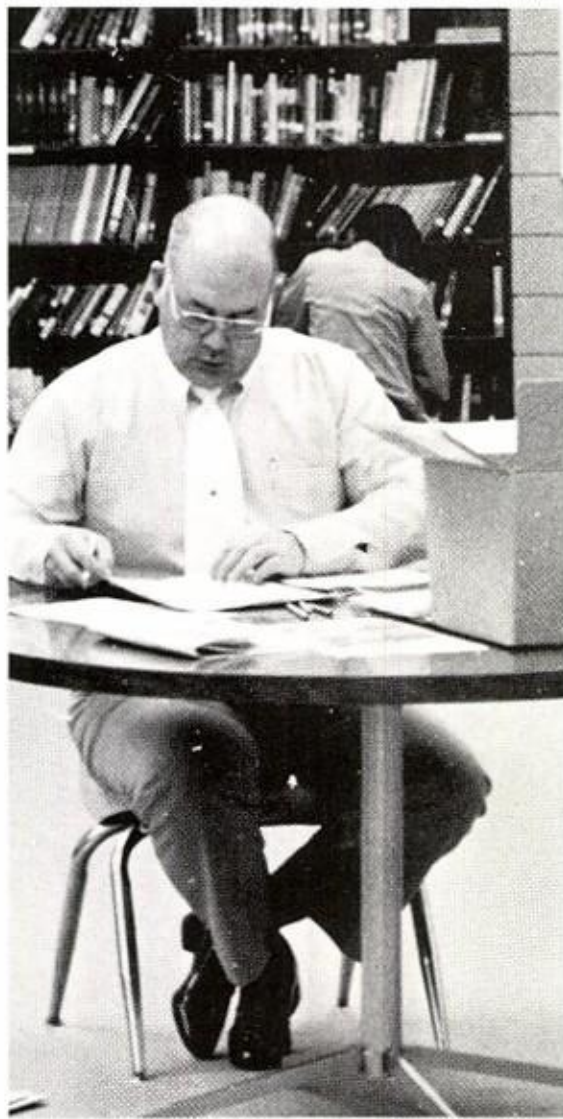

The school has about 8,000 books in the library, that have been accumulated over the years. There are 500-600 books added to the library every year; however, the school only gets about 150 because students steal at least 350 each school year.

"Students only read what is required of them," Mrs. Billie Eckles, librarian said. "They do not appreciate books, do not take proper care of them, and read only what they have to for reports."

"Along with all of the stolen books, janitors also find books in the trash cans."

"I just wish students understood that these books are for them. They are organized in a way that they can be found. When they are not returned or when they are put back incorrectly and someone else needs them, they don't have access to them," commented Mrs. Eckles.

"Get to work" says Mrs. Frankie Young who is one of the Snack Bar workers. Cafeteria workers enjoy a "good" lunch and catch up on the latest gossip. Surprise! Bobbie Miller and Donna Wright are surprised by the photographer.

CUSTODIANS — Robert Esquivel, Raul Robledo, David Cuellar, Marcelino Narviaz, Albert Flores, and Norvell "Boss man" Allen. (Not Pictured: Rose Perez).

"What a mess!" This is probably what is going through substitute custodian Ed Carthel's mind.

Burrito Supreme Best Seller

The custodians and cafeteria workers begin their work routine early every morning.

Norvell Allen, head custodian, begins his workday about 6:20 a.m. His duties include general maintenance, cleaning, and plumbing.

"The students have been much better at cleaning up after themselves," he said "A student has never been able to discourage me."

Mrs. Mary Holster, cafeteria manager, said, "Our work begins at 7:15 each morning." According to Mrs. Holster the "bestseller" this year has been the Burrito Supreme. "No matter how many we make, we always run out."

Pom Poms, football, basketball, and tennis are all a part of sports.

Change of directions

Effort, practice, endurance. They all take time. With the injuries we had this year, by the time we got all of our players back, we didn't have time to "get back on our feet." Some athletes were not eligible to play due to their grades. The Chiefs didn't have a real successful year, but ... "What though the odds be great or be small, 'ol Lake View High Will Win Over All!"

Looking for that one quick move, junior Wade Harris plans for his shot.

Football Sweetheart

Lois Cauley was chosen as the Football Sweetheart. For four years, Lois played basketball, volleyball, and ran varsity track. She has also been involved in Student Council and GAA.

During her senior year, Lois was head varsity cheerleader and was selected Homecoming Queen.

Basketball Sweetheart

Chosen as Basketball Sweetheart this year was Melissa Turner. She has been the boys basketball manager for two years.

Melissa was in VOE and Student Council her junior year. She has also been a member of the Chiefettes for two years.

Track Sweetheart

Lisa White was selected as the Track Sweetheart. She has been the varsity girls manager for three years.

Lisa was a Student Council representative, an OEA member, and a varsity cheerleader her senior year. Lisa was also selected as a Homecoming Duchess.

Maiden Beau

Chosen as the Maiden Beau was Mr. Leon Horton. Mr. Horton was the bus driver on the out-of-town trips the Maidens took.

He was always very supportive of the Maidens and became their number one fan. For Mr. Horton's encouragement and faithfulness, the Maidens would like to express their appreciation.

It was to have been the year of the Chiefs in district 2-4A. The year Lake View would have the glory, the titles, the records, and possibly the class 4A football championship.

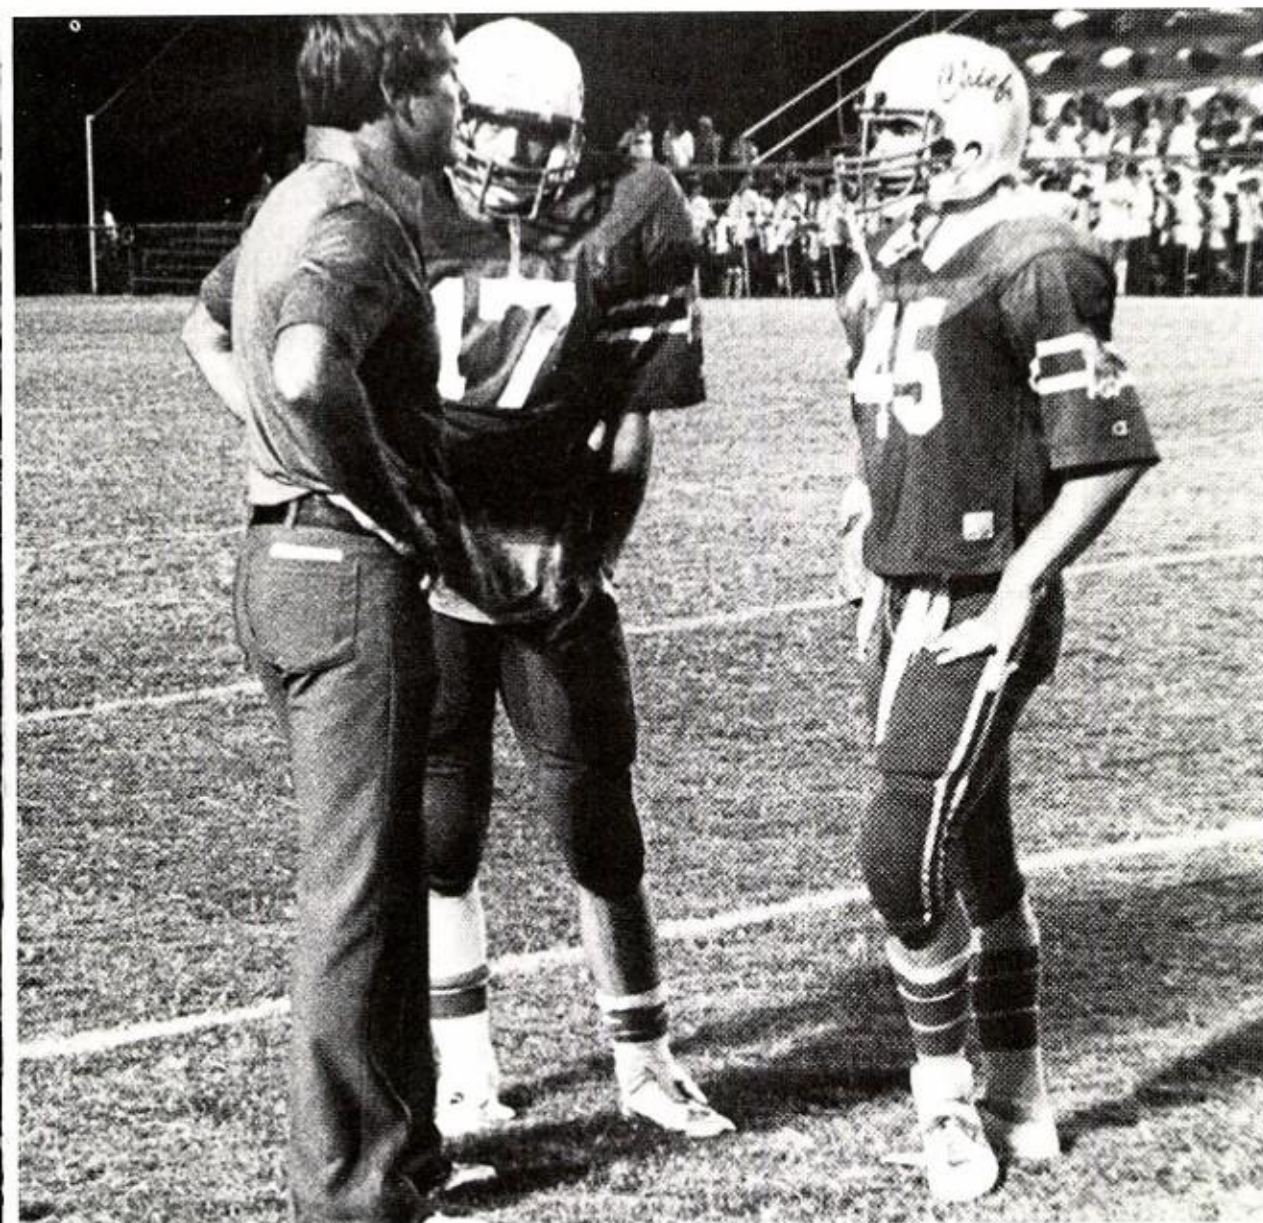

Everything in the cards looked good for the Chiefs. A young junior-laden team that went 9-2 and finished second in the district last year, defying the "experts" 5-5 prediction, was returning well over half of its starters. The team had experience, a strong passing and running attack in the arm of quarterback, Scotty Frasier, and the legs of James Allen, and a strong defense.

All these things made the Chiefs the district 2-4A coach's pre-season pick to finish at the top. The Standard Times ranked the Chiefs as the No. 1 4A team in West Texas. Everyone was talking Lake View.

But the championship season, the season coaches and players dream about, soon became a nightmare. The Lake View Chiefs struggled to a 1-9 record, Lake View's worst finish in 13 years and coach Jim Slaughter's worst season in his seven-year reign as head coach.

Looking back over the year, Coach Slaughter realized that injuries to important people early in the year, were the main reason for the Chiefs' poor season. "You can't play a lot of rookies and expect to play top-notch ball," he said.

But when the season was over, he wasn't critical of his players. "I'd like to blame the kids," he said, "But the number one factor was the injuries."

The injuries started early in the year and never stopped as they took away the Chiefs' strengths. Among those that fell to injuries were starting defensive linemen Kevin Walker and Jason Helms. All-district tight-end Dean Rosser also went down early in the year, along with James Allen.

Things started getting bad for the Chiefs and never got much better.

The "press-praised," power-packed, heavily-favored, Lake View Chiefs opened the season at home against the Del Rio Rams. The Chiefs, however, failed to live up to their pre-season billing as they fell to the Rams 18-7. While the potent Lake View passing attack couldn't get untracked all night, the Del Rio rushing attack was running by the Chiefs for touchdowns, three of them in all. Lake View's lone score came in the fourth quarter on a 1-yard touchdown pass from Scotty Frasier to Alan Pruitt.

"We played just like we've been looking in practice," Coach Slaughter said after the game. "We've been looking bad in workouts all week. Nothing changed on the field. Everyone played bad." All things considered, the Del Rio game was a very disappointing debut.

Rushing for yardage is senior quarterback, Scotty Frasier.

Listening to important instructions from Coach Slaughter are Dean Gill and Scotty Frasier, seniors.

LV Offense Stymied

FOOTBALL

The slightly stunned and shaken Chiefs traveled to take on 5A power Killeen Ellison. The tough, young defense that had been ripped apart the week earlier, showed its colors and held the powerful Eagles scoreless through three and a half quarters. The Chieftain offense, however, was also held in check by an intense Eagle pass rush that shut down Lake View's passing attack. Frasier ended the night with only one completion for twelve yards.

The stubborn Chieftain defense cracked in the fourth quarter allowing Ellison to score with 6:47 remaining in the game. An interception return for a touchdown completed the scoring. The Chiefs had lost their second game, 13-0.

The defense, however, impressed Coach Slaughter. "We played well enough to win," he said. "That may have been the best defense played in the last three years at Lake View."

The Chiefs then returned home to face the powerful 3-4A Lubbock Dunbar. It was a game between two powerful offenses and it appeared that way from the start as the two teams traded scores in the first and second quarters and went into the locker rooms tied 14-14.

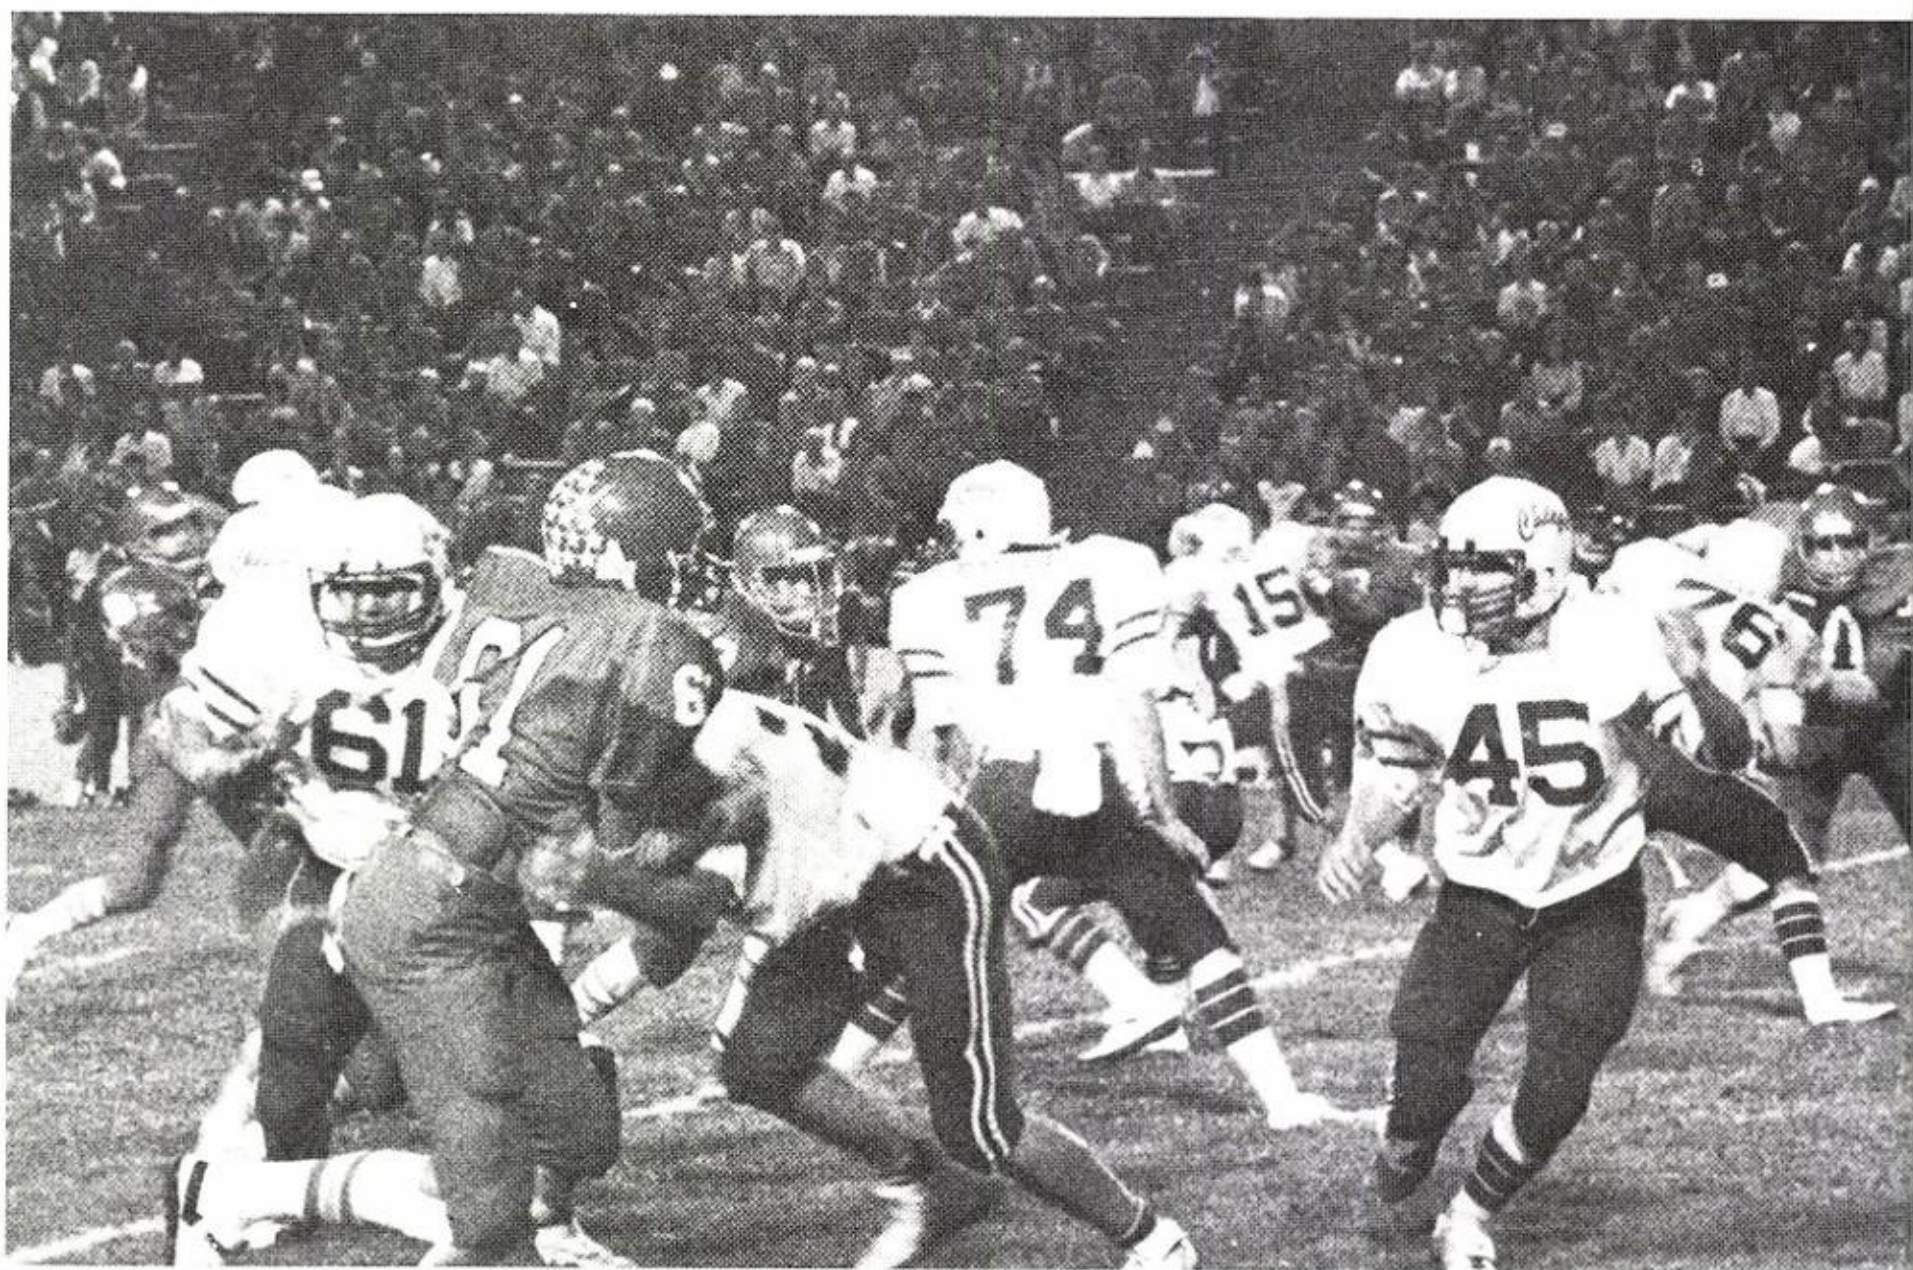

Everything was clicking for the Chiefs as the offense, while not at will, was scoring and the defense was holding its own with the explosive Panthers. Lake View fans were thrilled to see the Chiefs playing like the Chiefs they knew. The defense would hold in the second half, they reasoned, and the offense would score a few more touchdowns to win.

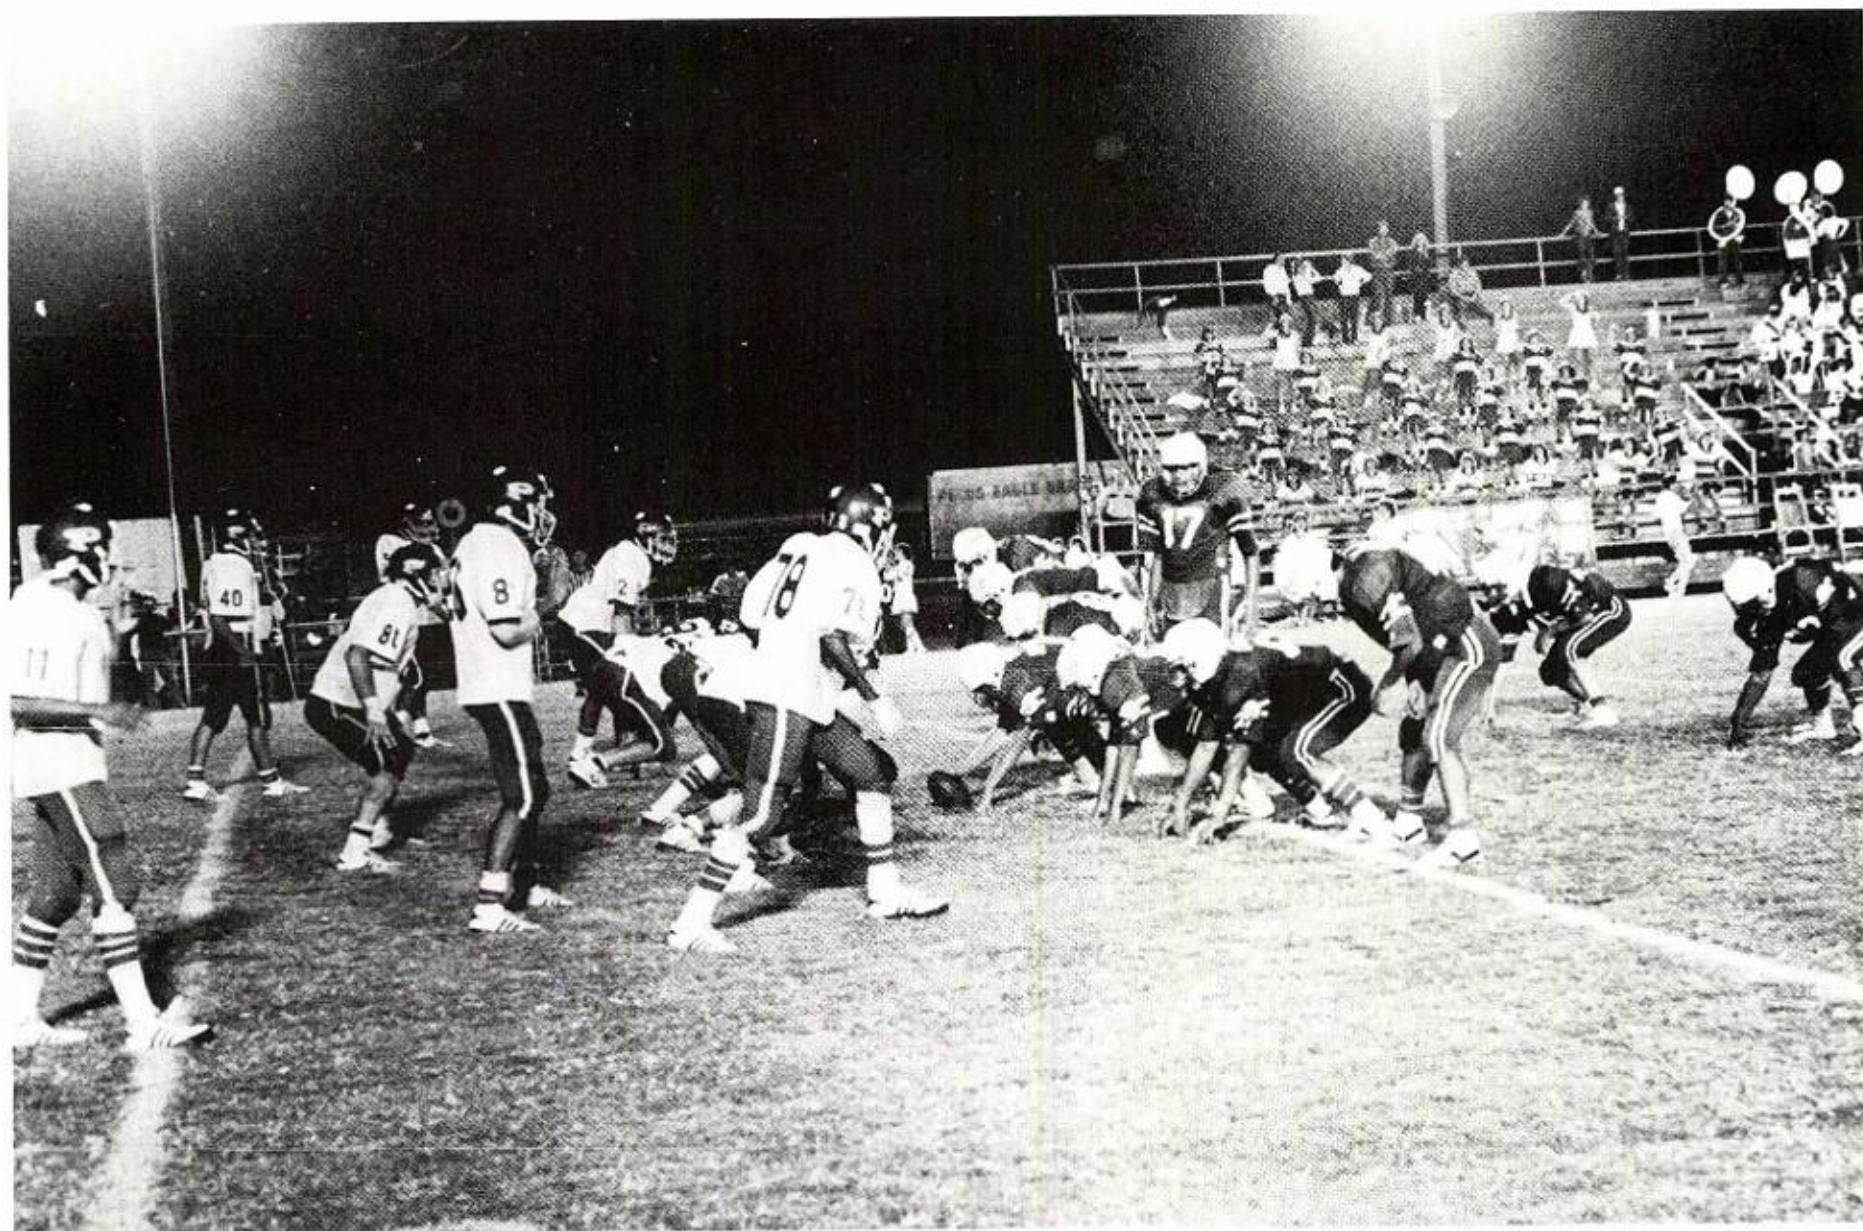

The opposite, however, proved true. The Lake View offense was stymied in the second half and Dunbar scored three more times and added a field goal to claim the victory 37-14. The Dunbar game completed a very tough non-district schedule.

With a hopeful look on his face, Jason Helms, junior, watches his teammates.

Looking for a receiver is Scotty Frasier, senior.

The Chiefs, after a week of rest and recovery, felt ready for the district season. This was a different season. Forget the losses, the miscues, the disappointments, and strange opponents. Lake View was ready for its playground: district 2-4A.

First up for the Chiefs was Pecos. The Chiefs badly needed a win. Not as much for a district win as for confidence and they went into the game playing as hard as they could.

But the Eagles were also ready. The Eagle defense was holding the Chiefs who were again having trouble getting the offense untracked. The Chiefs' defense kept the offense in the game, but the offense made mistakes and missed opportunity after opportunity.

The Eagles scored in the second quarter on a 1-yard run to take a 7-3 lead. Scotty Frasier had kicked a 26-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Frustration was the name of the game in the second half for both teams as Pecos was shut out and Lake View's struggling offense could manage only a field goal. Two interceptions late in the game cost the Chiefs chances to win. Lake View lost its first district opener in years, 7-6.

This loss was one of the toughest to take for Coach Slaughter. "I was pleased with our effort, but little silly things really hurt us," he said after the game.

The Chiefs then went into Sweetwater desperately needing a win. The setting was perfect for a good, high-scoring game. Lake View was hungry-starving for a win — and Sweetwater was out to avenge last year's last-second 36-34 loss to the Chiefs.

The Mustangs, however, were hungrier, faster, and stronger than the Chiefs as Sweetwater reeled off four straight touchdowns before the Chiefs could score.

The offense had been inconsistent all year and depended on the defense to keep them in the game. But the defense had its worst game of the year, as they gave up a season-high 46 points. The Chiefs went down for the fifth time.

Stockton Upsets Homecoming

Hopes

FOOTBALL

Homecoming. The Fort Stockton Panthers came into town for homecoming. Homecoming. Lake View was going to win this game. If no other game, this game. The Chiefs never lost a homecoming. Homecoming. The most bitter defeat of the year. For everyone involved. The coaches, the fans, and most of all, the players. Particularly the seniors, who were already having a less than memorable senior season.

"It hurt," said senior Jimmy Jones. "Believe me, it hurt."

The game was like all the rest; an inconsistent offense, a tenacious defense. The team went into halftime tied at 7.

Fort Stockton scored again in the fourth quarter and won 14-7. Lake View had just lost its first homecoming game in 12 years.

The Lamesa game was a game of firsts for the Chiefs. It was the first time the Chiefs played without the team catalyst Scotty Frasier. It was the first time the backup quarterback, Jeff McGeath, started a game. It was the first time James Allen tried a field goal — the field goal — and the first time Lake View won.

It was on that wet, muddy, rain drenched field that holder Dwayne Smith took the snap, planted the football, and allowed James Allen to kick the game winning field goal with 4:40 remaining to give Lake View a 3-0 win. It was not the prettiest win Lake View ever got but it had to be the sweetest. The fear of a no-win season was gone.

"I'm so proud of our kids," Coach Slaughter said after the game. "They won under harsh conditions. I can't help but talk about the hearts of these kids."

James Allen also felt great. "I wasn't nervous," he said. "I figured I could kick it. It just feels so good to start to win again."

The kick came in the fourth quarter. This time the magic of the four fingers in the air worked. The fourth quarter belonged to the Chiefs.

Trying to escape being sacked, senior Scotty Frasier runs into the Pecos defense.

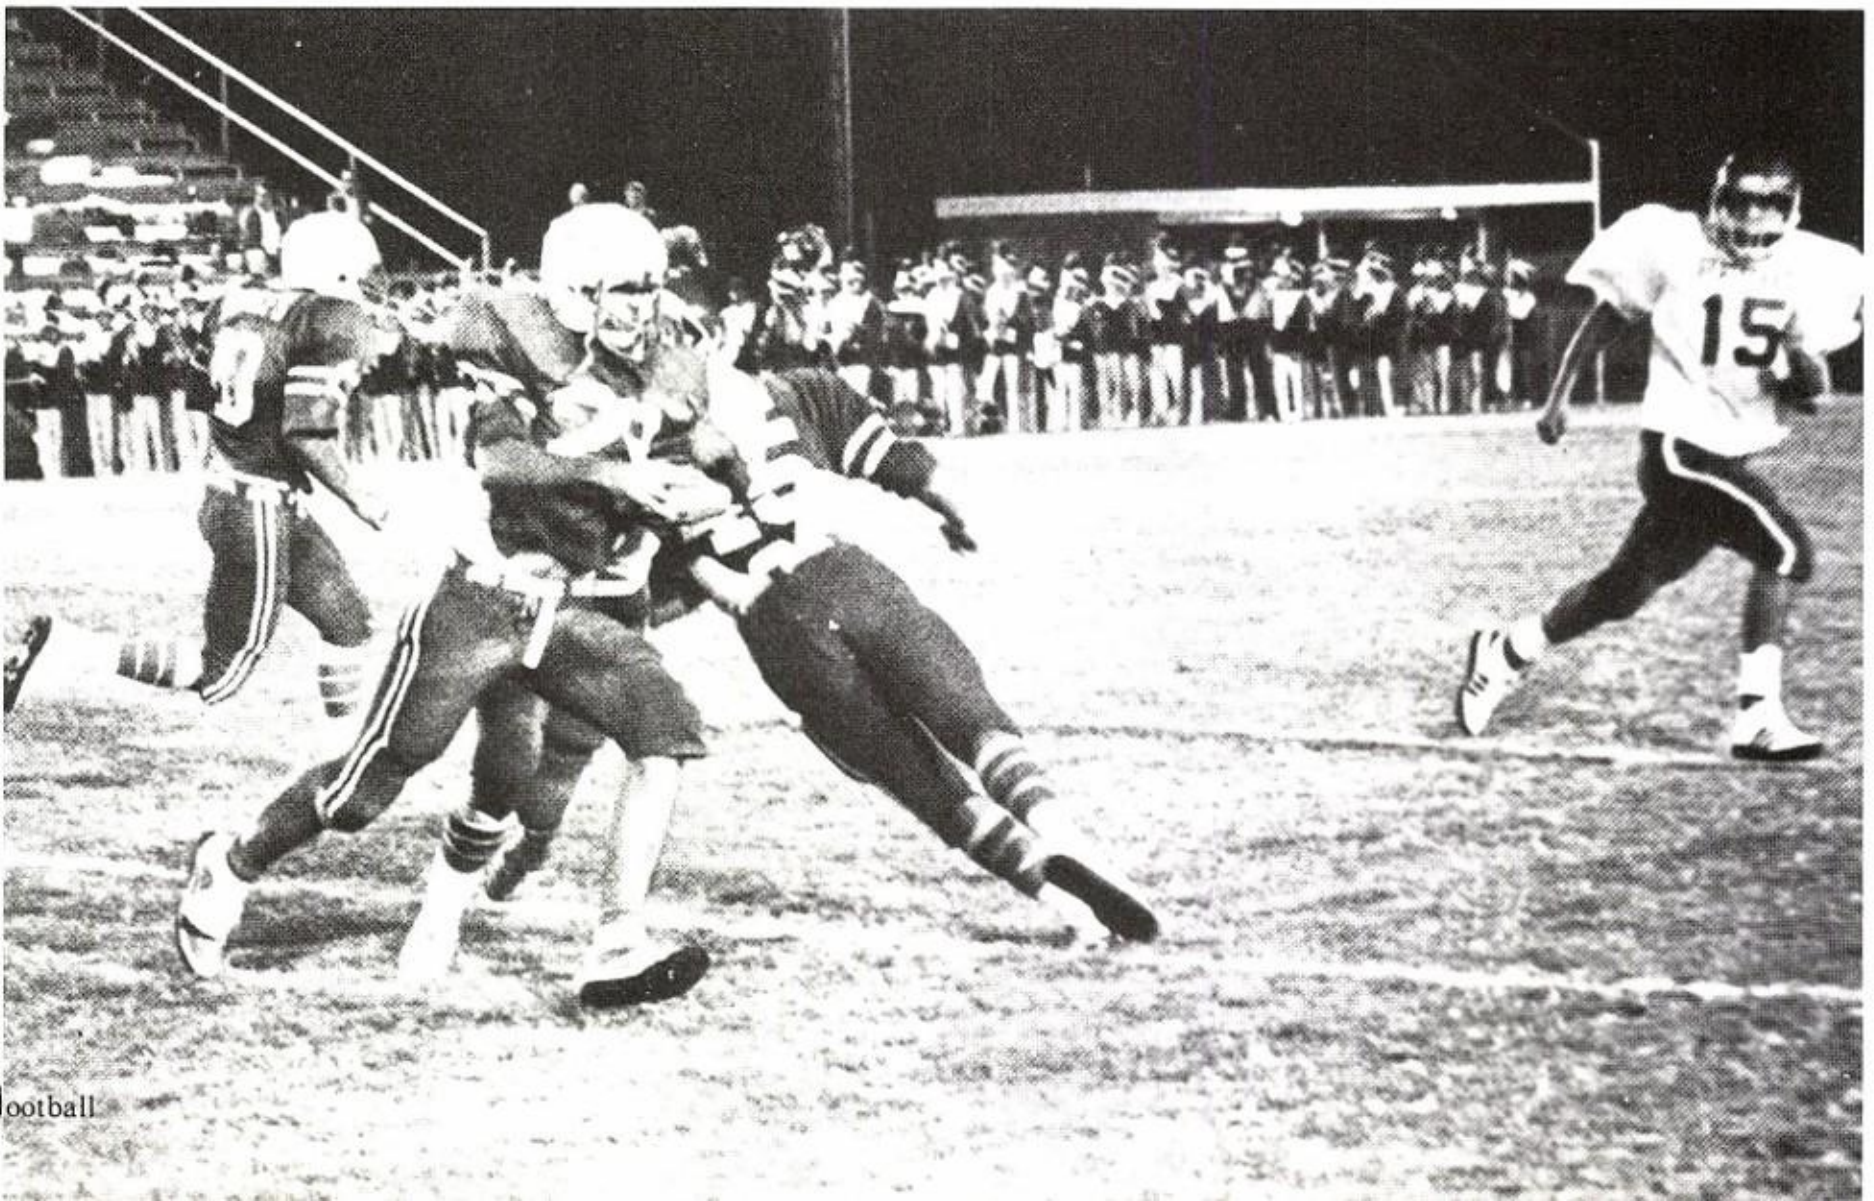

With a little help from senior, Dean Gill, James Allen, senior, breaks free.

The next week brought the same old dilemma back again. "This game is as disappointing as any we've played," Coach Slaughter said after his Chiefs were stunned by the Snyder Tiger, 14-8. "We didn't play with close to the amount of intensity we needed. It's hard to believe that the kids got a little cocky after winning last week."

Lake View had just played its worst game of the year, in a year with a lot of bad games. It was a typical 1984 Lake View game; good defense, no offense. Lake View could only score once against one of the worst defenses in the district.

"Snyder was pretty bad," recalled Jimmy Jones. "That game was sorry."

After the embarrassment in Snyder, the Chiefs came home to play the best game of the season. The seniors wanted to win badly, not only because it was their last home game, but also to salvage even a little respect from a dismal season.

But the same problems that plagued the Chiefs all year long spelled defeat again. The Andrew Mustangs were red-hot and scored 27 unanswered first-half points. They added another touchdown in the third quarter to take a 33-0 lead.

For the third week in a row Lake View could only score once. This time on a 13-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter from Scotty Frasier to James Allen.

The Chiefs had just lost every one of their home games. Who would have thought it?

The Chiefs went to Monahans to play their last game of a hellish year. Lake View and Monahans are traditional rivals. The two play great games every year. This game was no different.

But for Lake View it ended like eight other games had ended, in a loss. A tough 14-6 loss. The Chiefs had played one of their best games of the season against a powerful team.

"The thing I'm thankful for is that the kids were crying in the locker-room after the game. They weren't satisfied with the loss and it still hurts for them to lose. I don't ever want to reach a point where it doesn't hurt to lose."

So much had been expected of the Chiefs. It was disappointing and hard to see them struggle the way they did. Senior Jimmy Jones perhaps spoke for every senior on the team when he said, "I wish I had another year to play. I really do."

Gaining yardage is sophomore, Stoney Lindsey.

The Maiden volleyball team was continually having to cope with lack of height and experience during the 1984 season.

"These deficits showed especially in close games," Coach Dale McClellan said. "Andrews was close because we split the first two matches with them."

In the tie-breaker, the score was 13-11 and the Maids missed the serve. Andrews came back winning the game 13-15.

But despite a rather dismal 2-12 district record, Coach McClellan said, "I have the utmost praise for their continued hard work throughout the season."

He added that from August 6 through October 27, the volleyball team had games every Saturday.

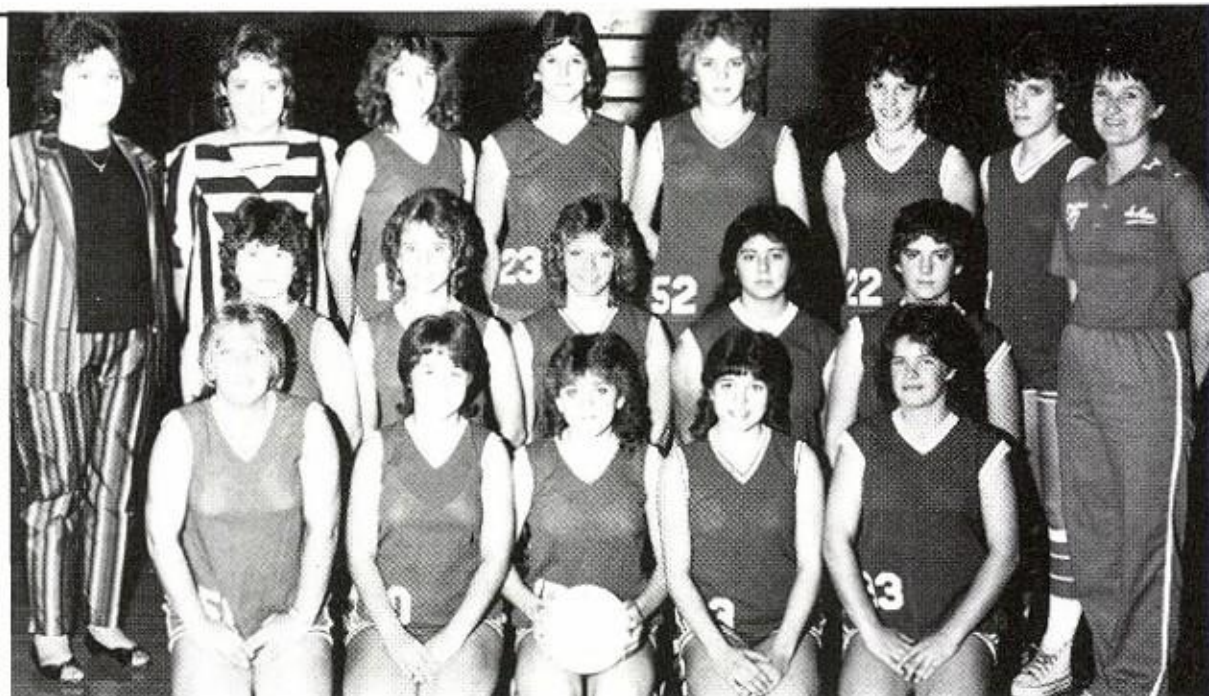

The Maids were not the only team in the state who had trouble with the tough District 2-4A teams. Monahans, the district champs, went on to win the state championship.

As a bright note on the season, Patty Campos was named all-district.

Hopes for the Maidens '85 team should be considerably brighter. Five lettermen will be returning to add to the needed.

"I also expect strong help from this years' junior varsity, who gained much playing time and experience," Coach McClellan said.

VOLLEYBALL

Experience was gained in each game the Junior Varsity volleyball girls played.

Although the JV won only four games, "strong help from this year's junior varsity is expected, to aid next year's varsity," Coach Dale McClellan said.

The freshmen Maidens opened the season undefeated, and ended the season winning second place in the city tournament.

"Playing time and experience was needed in the games we played," Coach JoAnn Walters said. "We had a lot of new kids from Grape Creek that didn't know how to play organized volleyball."

"We were the only team in San Angelo that had two-a-days for the freshmen," Coach Walters added.

"They're good kids, hard workers, and should look strong next year."

Good effort by Tom Lisenby, junior, helps the Chiefs get two more points.

Ray Hamm New Boys Coach

Lake View got a new basketball coach this year. Ray Hamm took over the reins of a team struggling to keep its head above water. Chieftain basketball had registered only four wins over the past two years and the arrival of a new coach promised to breathe new life into a sagging program.

This promise seemed to be coming true for the Chiefs. In only two games, the Chiefs did what took them 21 games last year — they won their first basketball game. The Chiefs ripped the Sonora Broncos 58-48 in their second game of the year, behind 21 points from the Chiefs' leading scorer, Mike McKinnerney and Efrain Velasquez's 12 points.

That first win saw the emergence of several players who would be very important in the Chiefs' plans for the season. McKinnerney broke the 300 point barrier over the course of the year, averaging almost 11 points a game. Tom Lisenby and Velasquez were a big part of the team, averaging over 8 points a game each. Wade Harris came up from the junior varsity to control the offense and averaged 5 points a game.

The 1-1 Chiefs hosted the 12th Annual North Angelo Lions Club Lake View Invitational and fell to the Brownwood Lions 86-43 in their opening game. The Chiefs fell again the next day, this time in the consolation game to Monahans.

The Abilene Wylie Bulldogs came to play the Chiefs and out-rebounded them to post a 51-34 win. The loss left the Chiefs 1-4 for the year.

Chiefs Suffer Narrow Loss

One of the lowest points in the Chiefs' season came in the Cat Claw Classic in Abilene. The Chiefs suffered a 66-60 loss to the Abilene Cooper junior varsity. The Chiefs only consolation came from Philip Franco, Mike McKinnerney and Mark Cox who each scored 12 points to pace the attack.

Coach Hamm said that the team played poorly the first three quarters, but came on in the final period to make a game of it. "We played well in the fourth quarter," he said. "The kids showed a lot of character at the end to do that."

The Chiefs seemed to be improving and ready to win another game at any time, but still lost the remaining two games in the tournament.

The Chiefs traveled to Ellison and suffered one of their worst losses of the season, losing to Killeen 81-22. Coach Hamm said Ellison definitely had Lake View outmanned.

"They kind of intimidated us," he said, adding that the Chiefs' shot selection was very bad. McKinnerney, the Chiefs' most consistent player all year, scored half the Chiefs' points with 11 on the night.

The Chiefs lost to Andrews 93-37 in Brownwood's Bluebonnet Classic, but Coach Hamm, despite the 56-point differential, thought the game benefitted the Chiefs. "It proved we were capable of playing with them and some other teams in our district, because they are in the top two or three in the district."

The Chiefs played well early, but scored only 3 points in the second quarter, allowing Andrews to take a 40-17 lead into the locker-room. They outscored the Chiefs 53-20 in the second half to win. The loss dropped the Chiefs to 1-11.

Jeff McGeath hit on a jumper with three seconds remaining to give the Chiefs their second win of the season: a 59-58 win over the Crane Golden Cranes in the Bluebonnet Classic in Brownwood. The Chiefs played one of their best games of the year and had three men in double figures. Mike McKinnerney had 14, Wade Harris 12, and Tom Lisenby 11. Coach Hamm said the team showed a lot of character in bouncing back from two previous lopsided losses in the tournament.

The Chiefs went to Sweetwater with every intention of winning their first district game and played like it, battling the Mustangs back and forth the entire game, but eventually losing 78-69.

The Chiefs played one of their finest games of the year as Mike McKinnerney had 24 points and Tom Lisenby added 21. "The difference in the game, however," said Coach Hamm, "was the Chiefs' lack of height."

"That was the tell-tale difference. They got lots of points off their offensive rebounds."

The Chiefs were beaten by Pecos 52-42, the Chiefs' second district loss. They went on to be beaten by Snyder 76-43 and a red-hot Lamesa team 101-42.

Shooting the ball, Jody Elkins, junior, hopes for two points.

Tribe Closes Out Dismal Year

The Chiefs were finding themselves in a bad losing streak again and were losing game after game.

The Chiefs put on another one of their best efforts in Fort Stockton, but again found themselves on the short end of the score 81-70. Efrain Velasquez was a big part of the Chiefs' game, scoring 22 points, but the Chiefs were still sliding downhill with a 2-19 record.

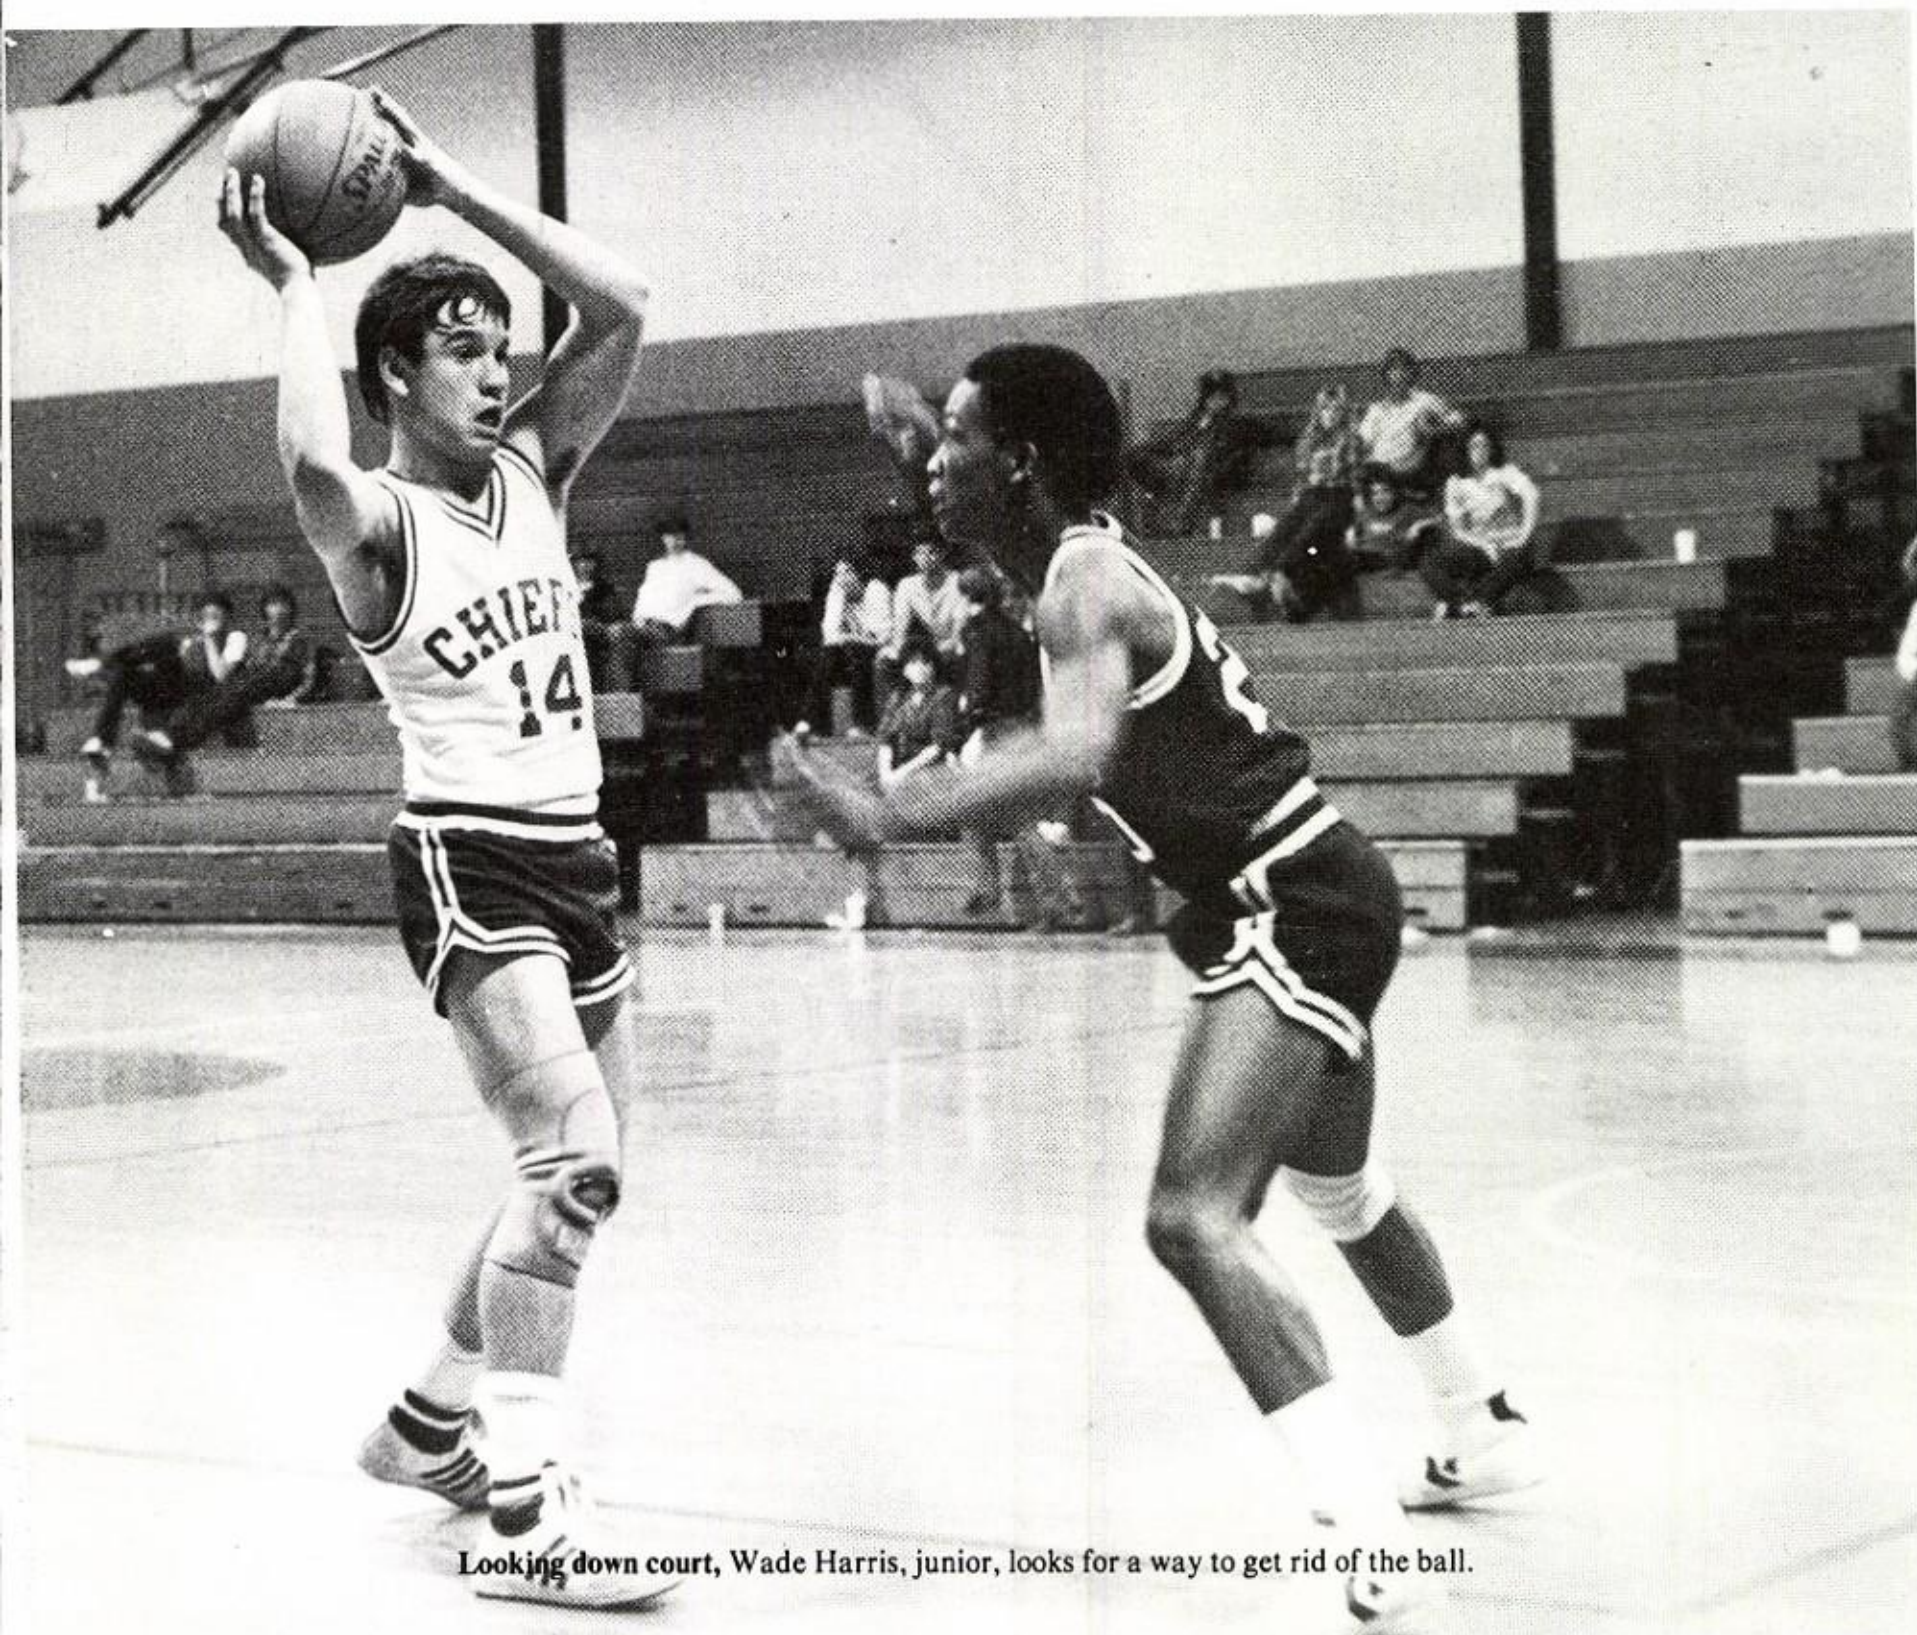

The Chiefs had another chance to win their first district game in the next to last game of the season. Again it was against the Fort Stockton Panthers. The Chiefs again played well, but lost 86-79.

The Chiefs played the last game of a disastrous season in Monahans and ended it the way they had begun it: with a loss. The Chiefs fell prey to the Monahans Lobos 82-54.

The Chiefs ended their third straight season with two wins. Despite the tough year, "I'm happy with everything except the varsity," commented Coach Hamm. He said that the team should be better and more experienced next year, and he is expecting only better things.

"Nobody ever wants to let a season like this happen," he said. "I don't think it will ever happen again as long as I'm at Lake View."

Looking down court, Wade Harris, junior, looks for a way to get rid of the ball.

Maidens Open With Cooper Loss

Even before district began things weren't going right for the Maidens. They fell early to Abilene Cooper by one point, but came back to romp them in the next game.

In the first contest mistakes hurt the Maidens as they committed 33 turnovers and scored just six points in the fourth quarter.

The Maidens and Cooper paced up and down the court putting scores on the board until the scoring drive stopped for the Maidens. Cooper came out ahead 44-43.

A tough 3-A Greenwood team came to Lake View during the Winter break to pick up an additional Christmas present in the form of a 51-38 win.

The cold weather outside and a cold Maiden team inside made the third quarter detrimental to the home town team. The Maidens went 5:19 without making a single point. Turnovers from the Maidens were an asset for Greenwood.

In order to make a run at Greenwood, Coach McClellan substituted Jana Williams, Linda Adams, Valerie Euler, and Quilla Barnett, to join Lisa Stinnett.

"I put them in because the five on the floor weren't running the offense," explained McClellan. "They were running down and either losing the ball or just putting it up. The others came in and just ran the offense like they were supposed to, and got in rebounding position."

Despite the losses McClellan believed that he was getting 110% from the Maidens and they went into district play feeling confident in themselves.

Maidens Win Two Tournaments

Tournaments were a success for the Maidens this season.

They hosted the Lake View Invitational and took the second place trophy. In the opening game of the tournament, Big Spring Steers made an attempt to overcome the Maids but were unsuccessful.

In the game the Maidens started Jana Williams, Lisa Stinnett, Linda Adams, Krista Olin, and Patty Campos. They romped the Lady Steers 52-30.

Next game the girls shut the door quickly on the Lamesa Lady Tornadoes in a 50-34 victory.

Maidens marched on to the championship to meet crosstown rivals Central Bobcats. They struggled in the game, but fell to the Lady Cats 55-37.

Olin, Adams, and Quilla Barnett were named to the All-Tourney team, with Campos receiving most valuable player.

One week later, the Maidens brought home their second, second place trophy at the Abilene Cat Claw Classic Tournament.

The girls took on Colorado City in the tournament opener and slammed the door shut with a 57-40 victory.

"In the first quarter we played extra hard on defense," Coach McClellan explained. "In the latter part of the second quarter we let up and gave them some easy baskets."

The Maidens were then ready to take on Haskell, but a tragic suicide hit Haskell and caused them to forfeit and advance the Maidens to the championship.

In the championship game the Maids took on the Sweetwater Mustangs, but it wasn't one of their better games.

"Sweetwater is a balanced team with exceptional size and quickness," Coach McClellan said. "The little mistakes weren't eliminated. Sweetwater won the game 53-30. Olin was selected to the All-Tourney team."

Going sideways Senior Lisa Stinnett gets a jump shot off over her opponent.

Squad Maintains Courage Despite Frustrating Season

The Maidens' district play began on December 11. The schedule wasn't an easy one, but they managed to survive. They came off their non-district schedule with a 4-4 record.

The Maidens wanted a successful district play, but they came out with a 7-15 overall record and a 3-11 district record.

The Maidens lost several close games by being outscored by a single point on the average per contest.

"Our won-lost record was definitely frustrating," McClellan said. "It probably would have been mentally devastating for any group of players except this one. But this group continued to work hard."

Without a strong inside game and little speed for effective ball movement, zone defenses have been the norm against the Maids. As a result the team had to shoot from outside. The team shot around 30 percent for the year.

The Maids were turnover prone because of little mistakes at the offensive end. "So many of our turnovers were caused by ourselves," said McClellan. "Our shot selection was good. We didn't shoot 30-footers. Usually we shot within the 10-foot range."

All the facts should have added up to a long season, but the Maidens never gave up.

"It hurts me to see those kids lose. It shows that they maintained a lot of courage," said McClellan.

Striving for a rebound is Lisa Stinnet. Looking on is Donna Williams.

Tennis Title Winner

Lake View tennis team has always been strong, and this year was no exception. The Chieftain tennis team had one of its most successful years as a team with what Coach Felix Lopez believes is the strongest overall team he has ever had. "I believe it. This is the first time we've had a team that's been that good."

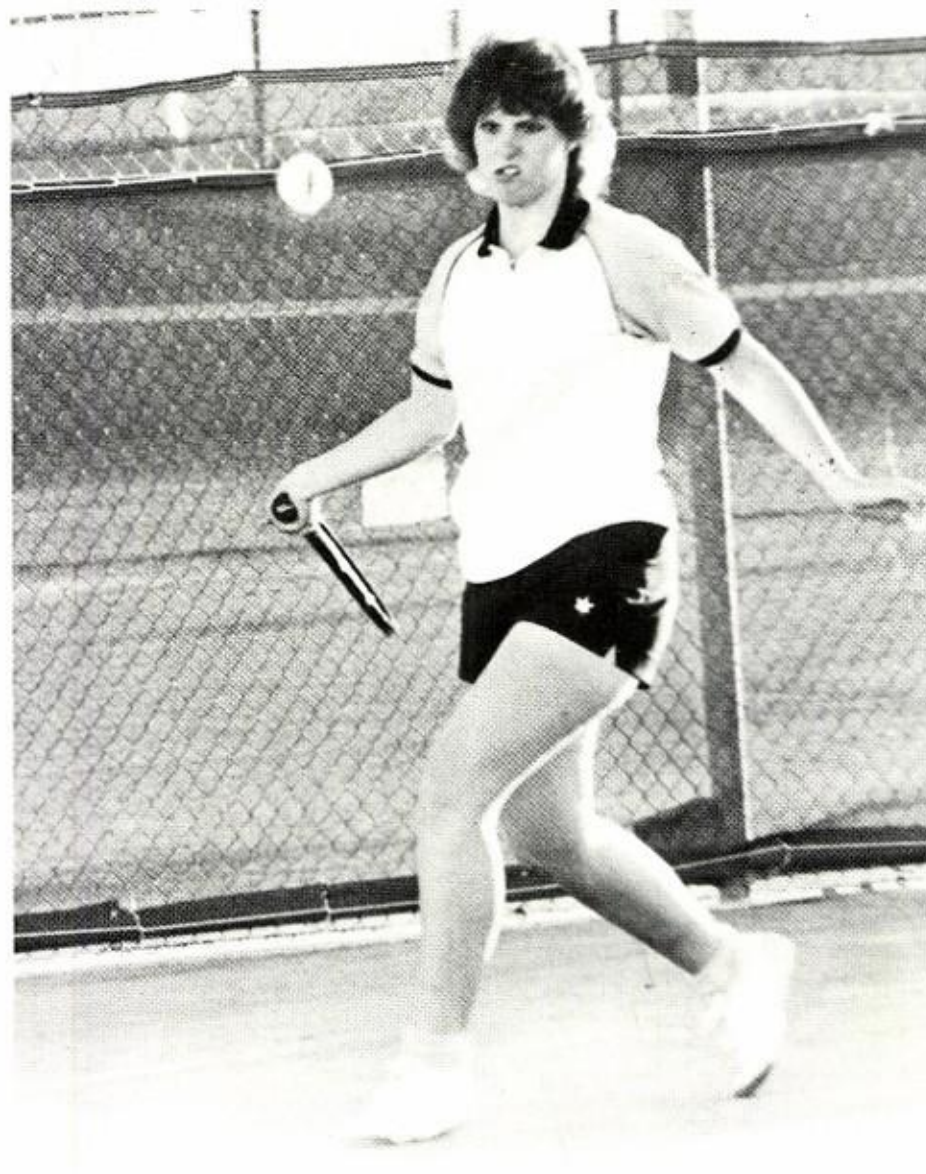

This year's team took a 7 -1 record to a second place finish in the district and advanced to state regionals behind the talents of No. 1 Mike Maxwell's and Mary Warren's single play.

Coach Lopez said the team this year was so strong because of its depth.

"We've got tremendous depth," he said, "We've got people from No. 1 to No. 9 that are really close and equal."

Particularly strong this year for the Chiefs was the play of the doubles teams. The No. 1 boys doubles team was composed of George Dockendorf and Raymond Rubio.

The No. 1 girls doubles team of freshmen Manda and Janda Lopez proved equally effective as they were beaten only once in district play.

Some members of the tennis team practice their swing. They are Mary Warren, senior; Raymond Rubio, junior; and Mike Maxwell, junior.

Tennis Narrowly Defeats Stockton for Second Place

The team this year had a shot at its first district title, but lost narrowly to eventual champion Andrews, 10-8.

The team finished third in the district the past two years behind powers Andrews and Ft. Stockton. The Chiefs put together one of their most impressive efforts of the year to beat Ft. Stockton by three games for second place. The teams were tied in matches 9-9 sets, but the Chiefs were declared the winners from the game count 211-198.

This year's team advanced farther than any previous team in Lake View's history.

Off to a Running Start

Track got off to a bad start this year for the boys. Their first meet they placed fifth overall with 33 points.

Head Coach Nat Sawyer had a hopeful eye for several boys. "Keith Meek, Jason Helms, James Allen, Randy Young, Ricky Womack, Randy Rangel, and Derek Turner were very strong this season," said Sawyer.

Monahans was the previous district champion and was favored to win again this year. "Over half of last year's district champions are back for various teams," said Sawyer.

There were only eight returning lettermen for the Chiefs this year.

Ineligibility hurt the Chiefs the most.

Track Returns

With seven returning lettermen, the girls track team could not help but be competitive.

"We lost many seniors last year, but I feel like this will be a re-building year just because we are so strong," said Coach Kathy Wadley.

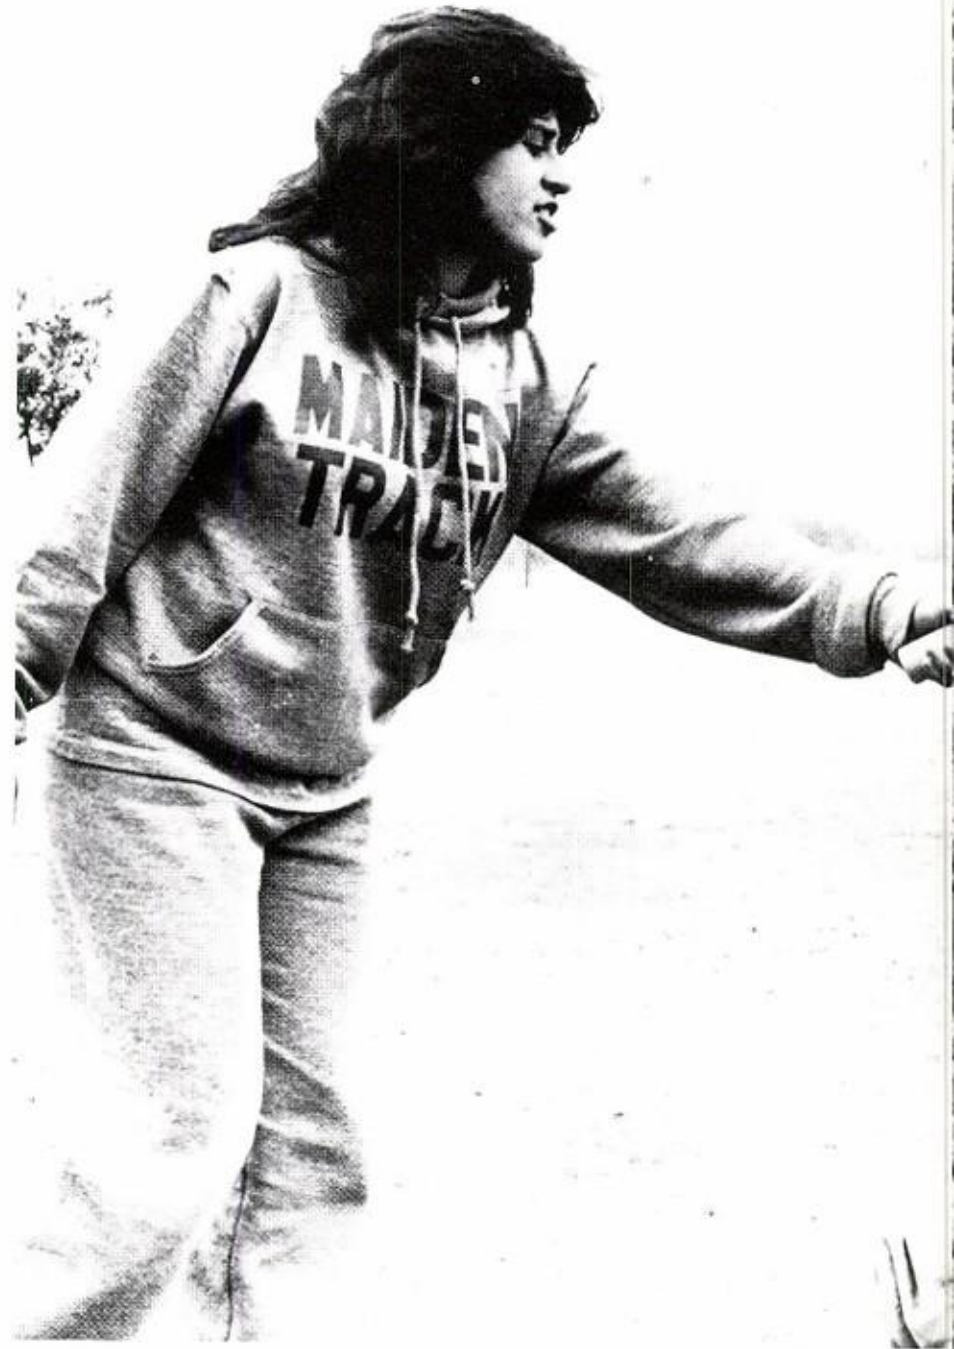

The seven veterans were Quilla Barnett and Lois Cauley, Tammy Walker and Karen Wright, juniors, and Carmen Franco, Traci Highsmith, and Tiffany Jackson, sophomores.

Barnett was the main contender for the shot put, Jackson the high jump and the hurdles, but several people could have competed for the other positions.

"During the football season the workouts consists of various spirit activities such as scrapbooks, decorating and cleaning of the gym, plus they participated in local activities," said Mrs. Barizon.

"We served as hostesses for opening of Tom Green County Bank, which was a pleasure to do," said Lisa Stinnett, president.

Pep Squad New Club

A new organization this year designed exclusively for the freshmen was the freshmen pep squad.

The group cheered at all the in-town freshmen football games and had practices on Wednesdays before the games. They had to make both practice and games to be a part of the Freshman Pep Squad.

"The freshman Chiefs needed some pepping up, and what better way than a pep squad?" Mrs. Dee Warren, sponsor, said. In order to pep the Chiefs, Mrs. Warren got 20 girls together and made a pep squad.

The girls had to have at least a 75 grade point average in order to participate.

Class Makes Headstart Aprons

"Students enrolled in a Homemaking II class were required this year to make something for a child," Mrs. Reba Cost, teacher, said.

Since many of the students did not have anyone to sew for, the class decided to take on a project which would in turn benefit the Headstart School. This two-week project was making cover-up aprons with denim fabric donated by Levi Strauss.

When this group project was completed, the students took the aprons to the Headstart School.

Decorations on these aprons ranged from ABC's to an olympic design. They all followed the same pattern, which was a one-size fits-all pattern.

"We just had a wonderful time doing it," said Mrs. Cost.

"Students had to use creativity, and they learned new sewing techniques and the joy of making something for someone else. I could tell that the students were very pleased with their work," Mrs. Cost commented.

300 Students

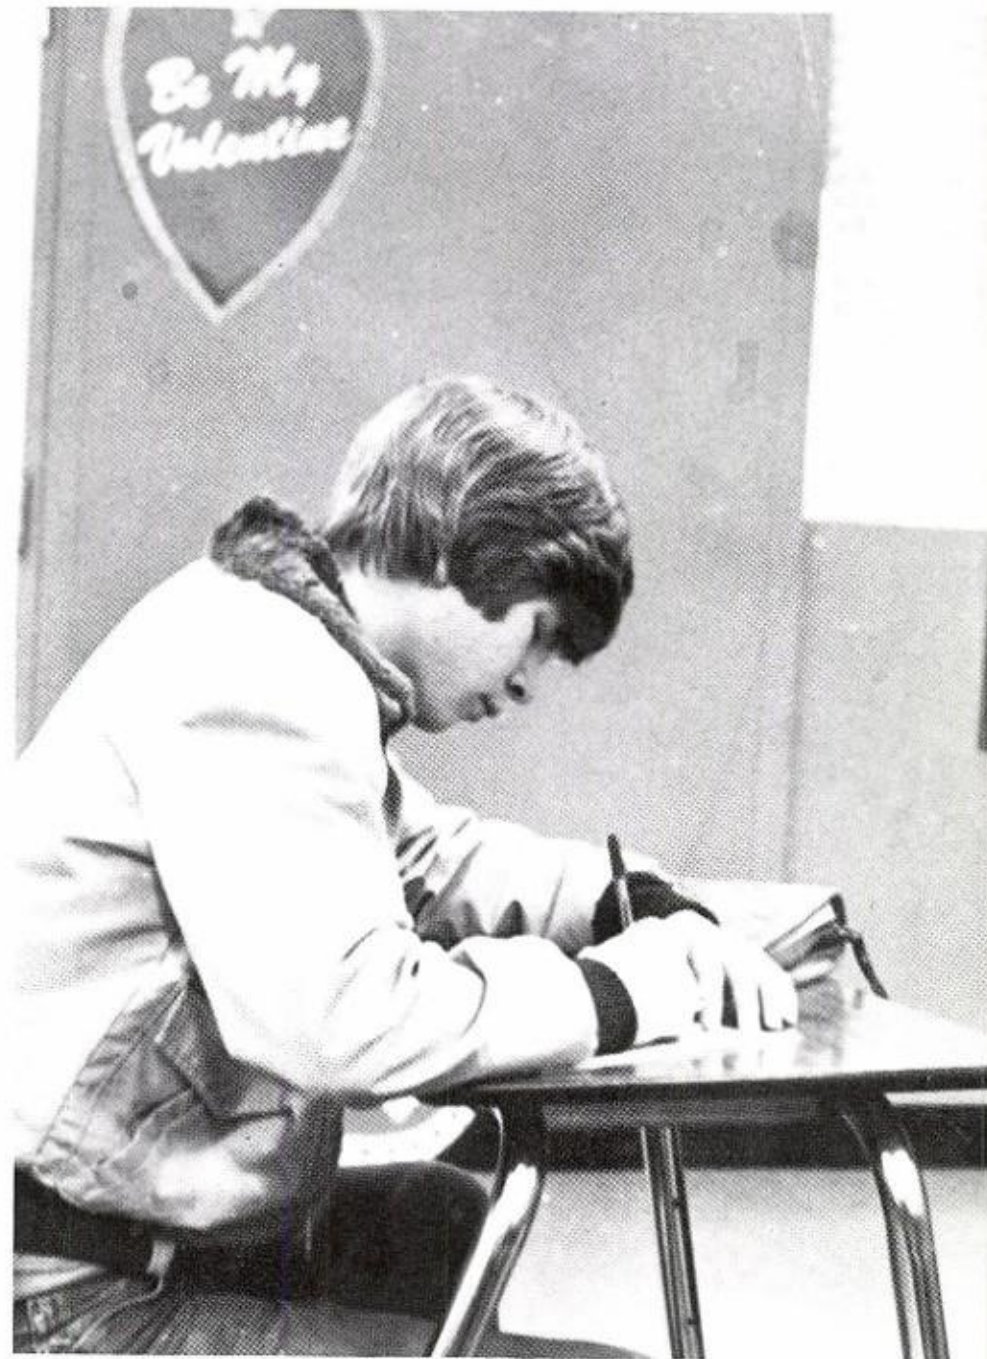

Some 300 West Texas students competed in a math and science pre-UIL contest sponsored by the San Angelo Council of Mathematics Teachers in February.

According to Miss Sandra Pascal, math sponsor, these meets prepare students for district competition by "helping students get a chance to feel the pressure of the actual test, and having once experienced this pressure, district competition doesn't seem quite so difficult."

Trophies were awarded to first, second and third place winners, ribbons were presented to fourth through sixth place. A sweepstakes trophy was given to Azle High School for overall school winner.

Giving out awards at the San Angelo Council of Mathematics Teachers' pre-UIL meet are Mr. Jerry Johnson and Miss Merri-jane Ellis.

Math and science competitor Shane Hoelscher must constantly practice to compete in literary meets.

Typesetting, Platemaking

A small business is in operation in the Vocational Building. The printing department functions as both a working business as well as a classroom. Printing is a three-hour class that provides a variety of services.

The students do everything from printing hall passes, attendance reports, and various certificates for both Lake View and Central, to printing fliers for local churches and businesses.

They print business cards, and do many of the printing jobs for Shannon Hospital.

On a larger scale, the department printed 500 copies of a 125-page long training manual for the Concho Valley Council of Governments. They also print many programs including one for the Tom Green County Livestock Show.

There are many specialized areas in which a printing student may work. A few of these are the typesetting department which includes the press and the compugraphic which is an electronic typesetting machine.

The darkroom and platemaking area are also important parts, and finally the binding area is where they fold, staple, and glue the finished product.

Mr. Steve Young, second-year printing teacher, said that most students are trained in all of these areas, but if a student especially enjoys or excels in a particular area he would try to keep the student mostly in the area he worked best in.

Darkroom Taught in Printing

The department's club organization is the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA). At district competition, Tina Garcia was elected as district secretary for VICA. She was the first person from the San Angelo Independent School District to win a district office. She also ran for a State office in March.

Many students take printing as a way to work themselves through school, whereas some plan on going into the printing field as a full-time career after graduation.

Motivations for considering printing as career are varied. Some students are just interested in learning the technicalities of printing, or they hear about it from fellow students. While with other students like Ralph Garcia, junior, it is like a family tradition.

"Everyone in my family is in the printing business . . . except for the girls," Garcia said that he plans on going to work with his father as a printer, when he's a senior. He said that he has gotten a lot out of taking a printing class, like learning to use the camera and the press and learning to make the plates.

Other students like Mike White, senior, have taken printing as a useful way to use up credits. White said that he did not plan on going into the printing field, but that he still enjoyed learning to run the press.

Some students are also currently working in local printing shops and even some have been working at Newfoto Publishing Company that prints yearbooks and other large printing jobs.

Working together on a printing project are James Seely, Dennis Marble and Ray Rodriguez.

Deadlines

The staff had to learn quickly to deal with the deadlines. They had to work hard and real fast so they would have what it takes to produce a yearbook or newspaper.

As deadlines drew near, journalism students were found busily working on the yearbook or Pow Wow, trying to get them finished. Getting the publication out isn't as easy as people think it is. It takes a lot of work and many hours. Students are usually at school after hours to get the work done.

The Pow Wow consists of typing stories, writing headlines, pasting-up stories, and making corrections.

In the yearbook, each section editor must design his own copy and picture layout and write many of his own stories.

But, if there were no deadlines, there would be no Chieftain or Pow Wow.

Playing the role of a "press photographer" is photography student Stephen Vick.

Clothing is a class taught at Lincoln Jr. High and only allows 15 students in it.

Using sewing machines in the manner of an assembly line, students in clothing services are instructed in careers centered around the clothing industry.

Mrs. Betty Oates, instructor, helps students enter every aspect of the clothing business. Finished garments are sold and the money goes to class activities.

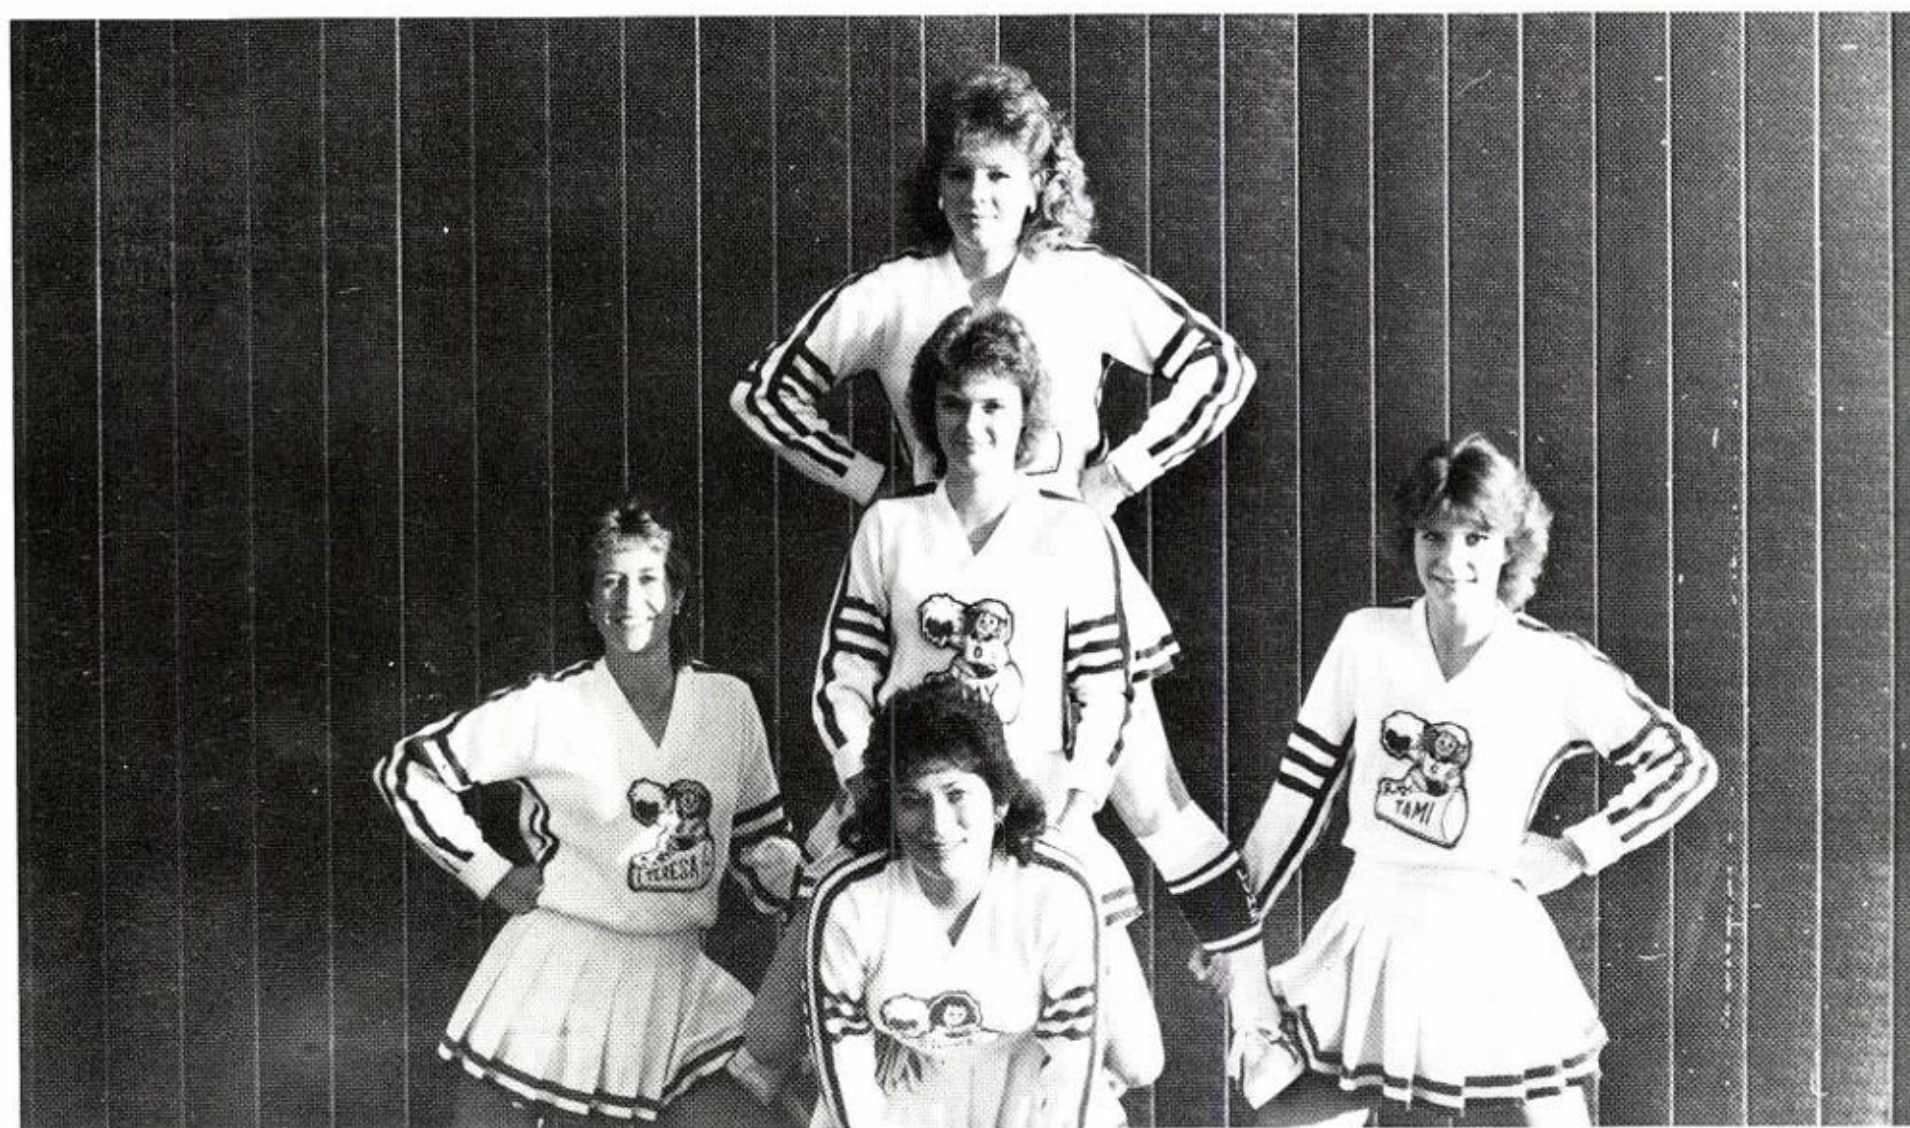

Special projects are done at Christmas time and in February, Valentine heart pillows are sold. In the spring, students make their personal outfits which are judged by the Lincoln faculty.

Spirits on the Rise

The freshman and J.V. cheerleaders are constantly ready to boost spirits. Always ready to assist them are the Chiefettes.

Together, these cheerleaders decorate for pep rallies, march in the homecoming parade, and strain their voices to raise school spirits. Even after cheering through a long, tough game you can still see their smiles.

The varsity cheerleaders get ready to cheer.

Changing Hands

Advertisements influence the decisions we make about what to do and where to go.

We want to look our best, wear the "right" clothes and drive in the "in" car. Ads can help us decide.

After the decisions are made, all parties shake hands, and the money passes from buyer to seller. Once again the growing San Angelo economy expands . . . as far as the money, it continues changing hands.

Changing Places

Band student Tammy Keele grins and bares it.

Decorations for the football game help to raise spirit.

Not only do we change our schedules and classes every year, but we also change places with other students. Every August we move up a grade until finally we are seniors.

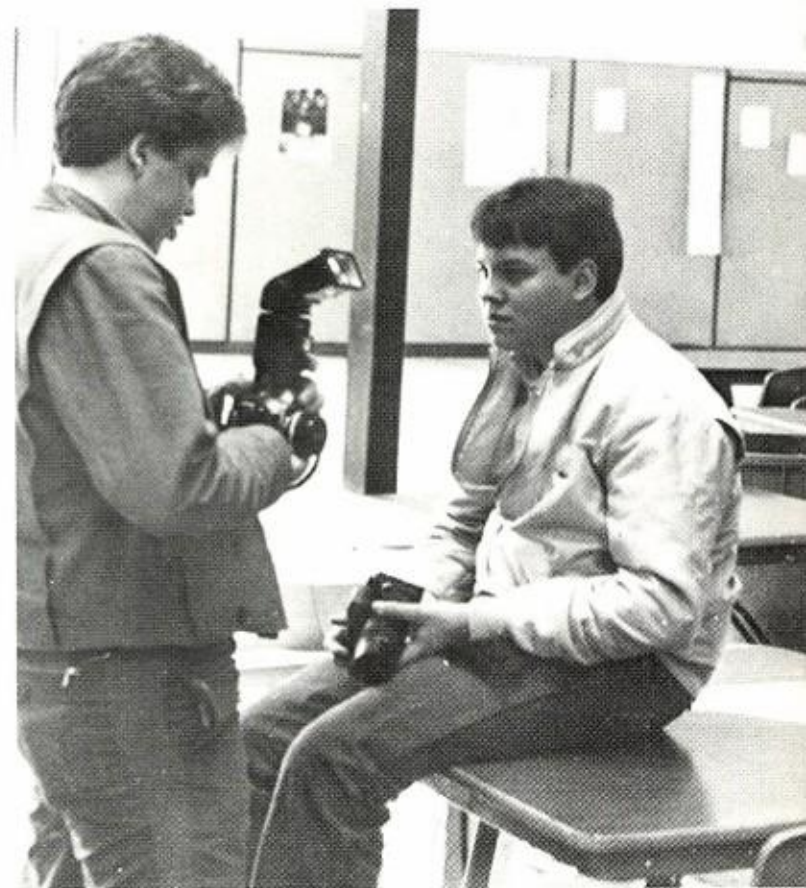

Every year, our place in life changes. We get a little older and a little wiser.

But pretty soon, classes and schedules will not mean as much. We will be out in the real world. That is what we are being prepared for: Changing Places.

There's always time for a rest as does the Auto class.

Practicing in the lab is Jr. Carlos Mendez.

"It's broken" thinks Kevin McCullough and Lacy Scott.

The ending of football season closes the Chieftain stands for another year.

Girls just having fun are Dana Howell and Tammy Hall.

Changing Back

A 70 passing average is not a new thing to everyone, just the current generation. In the past it was required of students, but it was changed to a 60.

People will only do what is expected of them. The students of Texas weren't getting the education some people thought was necessary so we changed back to the stricter rules.

Studying doesn't last all year though. We do get some time to ourselves. We get three months of summer to be on our own.

The camera catches Alva Munoz, Stephen Parker and Angie Allen on stage.

Changes all Around

Showing off the latest style of dancing is junior Charles Wells and Steve Gray.

Not only did the school rules change, but every activity we participated in was also changed.

In order to represent the school, academic performance had to be raised to a higher level.

Along with the hard work we had to do, we also had fun. There were, however, times that we felt so run-down that we couldn't go on, but our friends and teachers were always there to give a helping hand.

This year was different all right, the changes all around helped us to realize that life is more than just coming to school and going home.

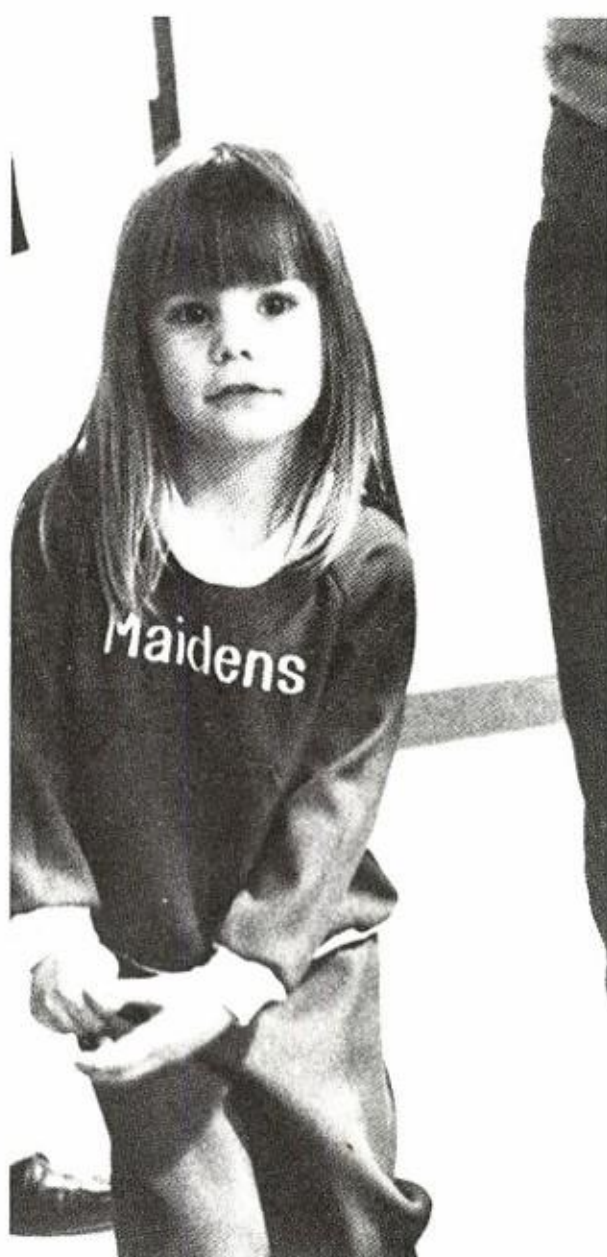

Lake View staff photographers get crazy for a great shot.

The art of ironing is demonstrated by Leigh Ann Bibbs, sophomore.

The unknown pupils get ready to strike again but it's really just Laurence Ewell, Nick Salvato, and Lenny Keith.

Changes in Action

Future Maiden, Kelsey Wilkovich, stops for a cute pose.

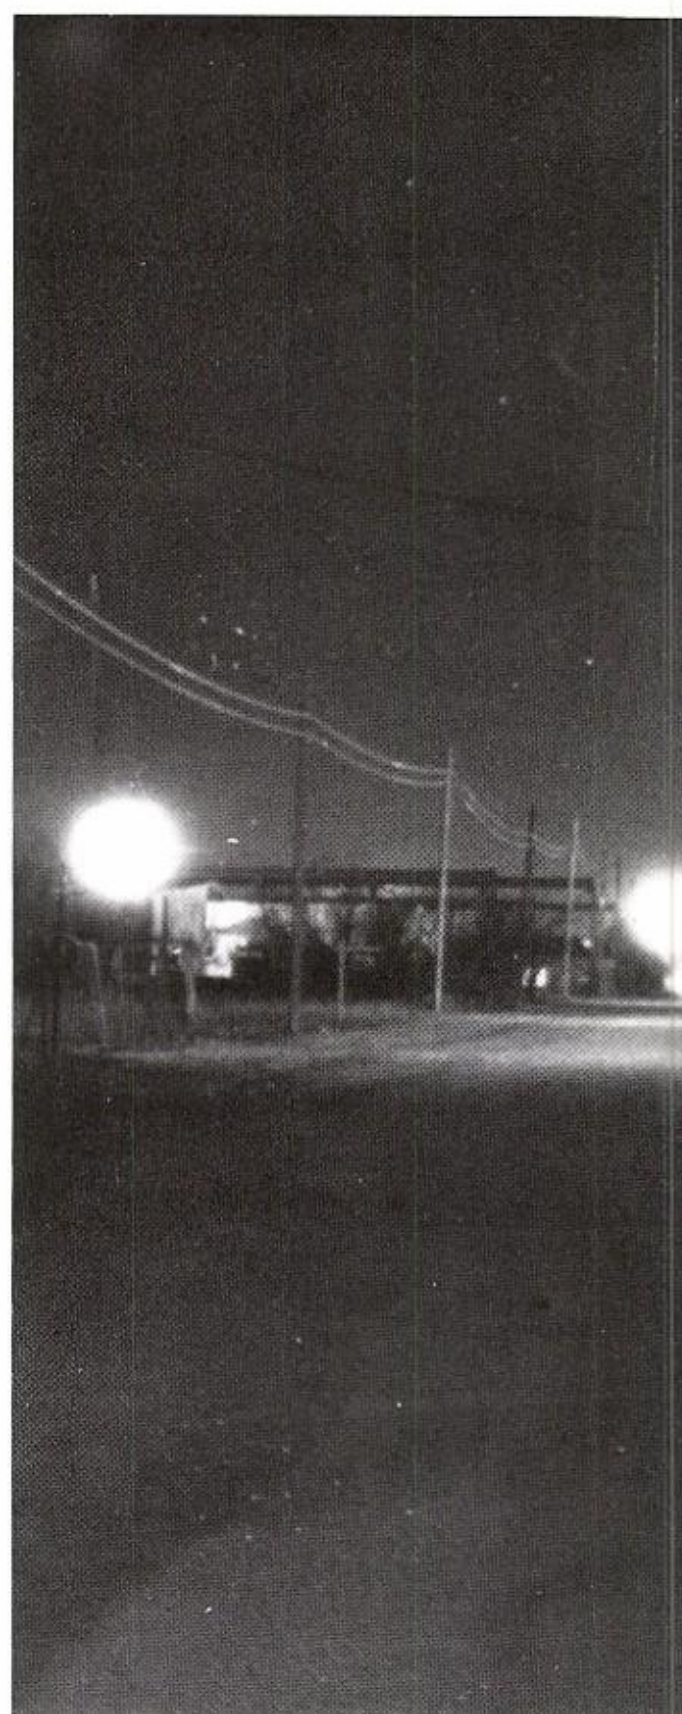

Street lights at night give a special effect.

Even though students stayed busier this year with all the changes, there was still time for relaxing. The new laws were not as difficult as they were expected to be.

Sports, weekends, and just hanging around provided us with some needed diversion.

Along with our friends, we went to movies, Wall dances, and cruising on the drag.

School helped us to realize that there are times to get serious, but we also knew that there were times to Change Action.

Taking a short break seems to be what flag members enjoy the best.

Surprised by what's going on Thad Logan takes a quick look.
